Tremendous.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Sweeping parts of Oklahoma and Kansas, tornado winds whose violence centered at Bethany, Okla., have exacted a toll of 17 dead, injured scores, and done great property damage.

The greatest damage was reported at Bethany, seven miles west of Oklahoma City, where the 17 lives were lost. At least 100 persons were injured and more than 200 buildings were destroyed.

Two of the 17 killed were pupils
at the Camel Creek school house, which is situated just south of Bethany. Property damage at Bethany was believed to approximate $750,000.
Another school house was razed at Victoria, Kan., where 16 children were injured. None of those injured was hurt critically. Much property near by was damaged.

Farm residences three miles south of Hilldale, Okla., were demolished by a terrific wind. Only one person was believed seriously hurt.
Twenty buildings were swept down on the head by a flying board.
Relief measures were under way in Oklahoma. Red Cross and state officials issued a call for $30,000. The Salvation Army and other agencies were co-operating in feeding, clothing and housing the victims.

The angry storm clouds gathered Wednesday in an unusually warm day. Temperatures were in the lows, and winds were common over the district.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov.
19. (AP)—A tornado cut a swath of death and destruction today through the little town of Bethany, Okla., seven miles west of here. Twenty-seven persons were killed, at least 100 injured and more than 200 buildings were destroyed. Several persons were injured so critically that they first were included in the death list.

Striking during a heavy rainstorm, the tornado leveled a 200-year-old path through the eastern edge of the town, burying many persons in the splintered wreckage of their homes.
Ambulances were rushed from Oklahoma City to the scene and the dead and injured were brought to city hospitals and hospitals. Red Cross and Salvation Army workers rendered first aid.

Five companies of Oklahoma National Guardsmen went into the area after the storm had cleared to protect scattered valuables from vandals.
Dropping first a few miles south of Bethany, the twisting funnel of death wrecked the Camel Creek schoolhouse, killing two pupils and injuring the teacher and 12 other children.

Floyd R. Switzer, 12, one of the pupils, described how Miss Mary Proctor, the teacher, attempted to save the children and how he himself called an ambulance and removed the dead from the ruins.

"It kept getting darker all the time," he related. "I was looking out the window. Soon I heard a loud noise. I shouted 'Here it comes!'
The kids screamed. Miss Proctor told us to get out and all to fall to the floor. Every one did but before we were all down, it seemed the school was sliding. Then all of a sudden it crashed!"

"The next thing I remember was a man telling me to call an ambulance.
When I got back, I carried Delbert Sharp to the Zorline house. I knew he was dead. Then I found Margarette

Love Letter Brings Burglar's Downfall

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—A burglar who penned love missives in German and left one of them in an apartment he looted fell into the hands of detectives today.
Karl Sauerbach, 23, a chef, was arrested for a $1,000 burglary.
Police said he had confessed five entries near Columbia University, during one of which the robber changed his own clothes for his victim's best suit, leaving in his pocket a letter to his sweetheart.
Sauerbach's arrest followed a visit

PRESIDENT PLEADS FOR EQUAL CHANCE FOR ALL CHILDREN

Problems of Child Health Set Before White House Conference in Moving Speech.

Full Text of President Hoover's Speech Will Be Found on Page 8.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—
President Hoover tonight laid a human engineering project of the utmost magnitude before 3,000 assembled experts in child welfare.

Opening his White House conference on child health and protection, the president called upon its members for a solution of the problem of giving children the mental and physical health needed to meet the demands of the magic age of machinery and concentrated endeavor into which they will grow up.

The conference into whose hands
the president gave the question comprised experts in every phase of child well-being. Educators, welfare workers, scientists, physicians—men and women who have worked in schoolrooms, among the poor, in laboratories and sick rooms, and who have kept the task of blazing a safe trail for humanity through the crowding complexities of modern life.

For their guidance, as it comes,
they had information assembled from the far ends of the nation, the knowledge, observations and conclusions of little knots of men and women experts who have delved deep into the secrets of child training and welfare during the past year.

It was his guidance, the president said, that the delegates were giving the reports of 1,200 child experts.
These embodied special studies of the physically, mentally and otherwise handicapped children. After the days of discussion, the delegates will take the information they have gained back to their homes to apply it in performing their daily work with children.

The president was introduced by Secretary Wilbur, the chairman of the conference. Around him on the platform were grouped men and women in the government service who specialize in child problems.

Mr. Hoover divided the task into three categories, the protection and stimulation of the normal child, aid to the physically defective and handicapped, and the problems of the delinquent. In concluding he told the delegates:

"From your explorations into the mental and moral endowment and opportunities of children will develop new methods to inspire their creative work and play, to substitute love and self-discipline for the rigors of rule, to guide their recreations in wholesome channels, to steer them from the reefs of temptation, to develop their characters and to bring them to adult age in tune with life, strong in moral fiber and prepared to play more happily their part in the productive tasks of society."

No Set Methods.
It is expected that the distribution of the responsibility for raising this $35,000 by the several schools will be made in a conference of representatives of the schools and on the ratio of the allocations as made in the division of debentures. The method of raising the sums will be left to the judgment of the school officials.

The boards of trustees are notified by the resolution that on and after January 1 they will be charged with the full responsibility of initiating and executing the programs of appeals for funds.

"We register our conviction," the resolution states, "that their needs call for specialized financing entirely beyond the proportions of our cooperative receipts, and that the only hope of saving an educational program to the Baptists of Georgia is by funds."

undertake to raise $35,000 during the coming year to be applied upon de-that $10,000 will be paid out of the co-operative receipts of the convention.

YORK'S GANG TERM TO START FEB. 15

Ex-Councilman Pleads Guilty and Is Sentenced to 12 Months.

Ex-Councilman Harry York, a little Englishman who rose to political power in Atlanta only to feel the stinging lash of hard words by the prosecution in his trial for graft, Wednesday squared accounts with the state in so far as indictments, other than the one on which he was convicted, are concerned, and, on February 15, 1931, will begin serving a sentence of 12 months for bribery.

Immediately following the filing of guilty pleas by York to three bribery indictments, L. L. Wallis, ex-superintendent of city parks, pleaded guilty to one bribery indictment of five counts and to true bills charging use of obscene words and operation of an automobile while intoxicated. Wallis will be sentenced next Wednesday.

Criminal Court Jury Grants Killer's Wish

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP)—When Richard Sullivan was arraigned recently for killing a cafe proprietor, he told Judge Joseph Sabath he would "be glad to burn in the chair" if Frank H. Bell would die with him.
A criminal court jury granted his wish today.

After only 45 minutes' deliberation it brought in a verdict of guilty against both men for the killing June 16 of Christ Patras, and specified the supreme penalty for both.

MAJOR-ELECT HITS FUSSING AT GRADY; TO ASK BOND ISSUE

Doctors Are Warned To Quit Quarreling or Relinquish Posts — Plans for New Plant Outlined.

Issuing a stern warning that all factionalism at Grady must stop on offenders will be ousted and, on the other hand, pledging his utmost efforts towards a vastly improved plant, Mayor-elect James L. Key outlined before the three staffs of the institution Wednesday night his plans for a hospital in keeping with the growing needs of one of the country's greatest cities.

The occasion of Mr. Key's address was the annual banquet given to the three staffs of the hospital by Superintendent Steve R. Johnston. The atmosphere was tense, for only the day before Dr. R. H. Fike, chief of staff of the Albert Steiner clinic, had made the charge that the negro patients in the Henry unit were getting two to three times better medical service than the patients in the white unit, administered by a staff of political appointees. A meeting of the executive committee of the white unit had been called to follow the banquet and it was expected that a cause reply to Dr. Fike's charges would be forthcoming.

Mayor-Elect Reaves Weather.
The mayor-elect left his home where he has been confined for several days by a slight cold and delivered a drizzling rain to deliver his ultimum that "fussing must cease."

His talk, while good-humored, nevertheless drove home the point that unless the doctors "quit bickering it would be his policy to find others to take their places."

Mr. Key's words had immediate effect and as a result the dove of peace hovered over the institution, carrying pledges of "peace and harmony in the future."

As soon as possible a bond issue to construct a physical plant in keeping with the needs of the institution will be placed before the people of Atlanta, Mr. Key stated.

He called off a scheduled meeting of the executive committee, slated to follow the dinner party, to answer the charges of Dr. Fike.

Speakers avoided any direct reference to the breach between the Steiner clinic and the white unit, but many veiled references were made to it.
"We must operate Grady as economically as possible," Mr. Key said.
"It shall be my intention to appoint citizens of the highest type, who will be above petty politics and faction-alism, to place on the hospital board, which council and the mayor have authorized."

"But I want to say now that this fussing with one another has got to stop. It is unbecoming of one group of doctors to criticize another."

To Work for New Plant.
"Don't make stump speeches about another fault. I want you to help build up this hospital. It was not constructed to foster doctors' fusses
but for the poor people of Atlanta.
When the time is ripe, I am going before the people of Atlanta and ask them to build a physical plant to do the great work which is expected of this institution."

"One of the first things, however, is to stop this quarreling, and I am telling you right now that it has got to stop."

28 ARE RESCUED OFF SINKING SHIP BY MAURETANIA

guese Coast and 535 Are

5 SEAMEN DROWN
AS SHIPS COLLIDE

Foundering of Freighter
Ovidia Brings Thrilling
Triple Dash as SOS
Sounds Forth.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
The magic of wireless, plus the traditional heroism of the hardy men of the sea, saved the lives of 568 persons on storm-tossed seas yesterday.

Twenty-seven men and one woman followed the ancient code of the ocean and rowed half a mile through raging waters to reach the liner Mauretania, summoned by the SOS after they had abandoned the distressed Swedish freighter Ovidia off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland.

The United States liner America, veteran of many rescues, was closer and the United States freighter En-dott also was near by, but the valiant 28 pulled farther for the Mauretania, obeying the unwritten law of the deep that the first boat on the scene makes the rescue.

Far to the other side of the Atlantic, 535 men and women were taken safely off the liner Highland Hope in life-boats and lodged in Lisbon after their vessel crashed on the rocks off the Portuguese coast. Only two casualties were reported.

Up in the North Sea five seamen drowned after a collision of the British steamer Continental Freighter and the British steamer Hebble in Angwary Roads. The Continental Freighter sank but five others of her crew were rescued.

Shipping circles were concerned for the small Swedish steamer Ovidia, which dropped out of sight on the South Baltic after she left Danzig 10 days ago.

At 2:30 o'clock this morning Atlantic shipping was startled by a dramatic SOS call from the Ovidia, which was in a sinking condition, only 28 persons aboard. These included one woman, Mrs. Carlsson, wife of the captain.

The Mauretania was 216 miles away but put to sea through the heavy seas and headed in the direction of the wireless message. At the same time two American vessels, the freighter Endeavor and the liner America, also picked up the SOS and started toward the Ovidia.

But the speedy Mauretania ploughed through the waves and got the first
SOS. She found the Ovidia in a wild waste

CITY FILES SUIT AGAINST CARLING

First litigation in Atlanta's effort to force the Carling Hotel Company to assume the 65-year lease of the old city hall site at Forsyth and Marietta streets, for which the company promised to pay $3,500,000, was initiated Wednesday when City Attorney James L. Mayson filed in municipal court an attachment for the first month's rent, $3,333.33.

The writ was issued against Carling L. Dinkler, as president; Henry C. Heinz, as vice president; and John L. Loti, as secretary-treasurer. All are officers under the incorporation articles filed in Florida, but are residents of Atlanta.

Filing of the first papers presages several other suits which will be filed in courts at Jacksonville in an effort to obtain the money due, as rentals on the property.

If the borough is unable to enforce the lease it will seek to void it and advertise for other bids on the property within a reasonable length of time, Mr. Mayson has declared.

He also will insist that the $50,000 certified check now held by the borough be cashed and the proceeds go into the treasury as damages. The check was posted by hotel company officials to guarantee erection of an improvement on the tract costing not less than $2,500,000 within three years after it was delivered cleared of all debris to the company.

Mr. Mayson's action Wednesday followed approval of a councilmanic resolution passed Monday empowering the city attorney to proceed in the case and employ Jacksonville counsel to assist Atlanta in its battle.

He has communicated with the Florida city in an effort to obtain legal representation there.

The writ issued Wednesday orders those against whom it was served to produce in court any money or other assets they may have of the defendant company. It is returnable to the January term of Fulton county superior court.

Mr. Dinkler was out of the city Wednesday and Mr. Heinz declared he knew nothing of the suit, except what he had seen in the papers, and declined to make any statement. He also declined to say whether he was still connected with the Carling Hotel Company.

Swamped By Offers of Locations, Equipment, and Supplies.

Swamped by offers of locations, equipment, food supplies and every item required for feeding Atlanta's hungry, members of the Atlanta Restaurant Association saw in the speedy and generous response of Atlantans to its plan of a "two-cent meal for the hungry," assurance that the community kitchen would be established by the first of the week.

At a special meeting of members and associated members of the organization Wednesday afternoon President J. R. Nix was named director of the hunger relief work and a site selected for the distributing center at 134 Nassau street. The site was offered by T. K. Glenn for the First National bank and keys to the building turned over to Director Nix by a representative of the bank at the meeting Wednesday.

Hailed as the most effective way of combating and eliminating the cause of increased crime in a brief address made at the gathering by Lawson Turner, attorney for the hotel and restaurant association, the community kitchen plan is intended to feed all residents of Atlanta and their families that are suffering from lack of food due to unemployment or other contingencies. Tickets will be given to persons who do not have them and meals will be furnished to everyone coming to the Nassau street station with a container in which to carry the food home.

Members of the hunger relief committee who will serve with Director Nix were named to include L. O. Moseley, Ed B. Venable, L. J. Ludwig, K. K. Hartsfield, O. P. Walton, Mrs. Wray, Lawson Turner, Mrs. P. Powell, the "Aunt Sally" of WGST, who will broadcast for the advancement of the movement; Mrs. Daisy G. Benn, Mrs. H. M. Rogers, George E. Drake, Aubrey Milam and George Walker.

Locations for the food center offered in addition to that given by the First National bank included a store at 272 Pryor street, S. W., and house by Louis Regenstien; 489 West Peachtree street by Walter Candler; house at 19 East Harris street, and other downtown parcels owned or controlled by the First National bank.

Among donations that snaped the association as a result of the initial announcement of the plan to feed the city's hungry were the following: Supplies of produce pledged by Aubrey Milam for the Produce Club of Atlanta; all carpentry work and materials needed for opening community kitchen by Palmer, Inc.; cooking equipment and gas fuel by the Atlanta Gas Light Company; all bread and cake needed by the Stone Bakery Company; all ice wanted and trucks to haul by the City Ice Delivery Company; all sweet milk and buttermilk wanted by Foremost Dairy Company; coffee and sugar by the Fulton Cheese Company; products of the Bee Stump Manufacturing Company; co-operation of packing concerns of Atlanta for meats, fish by Henson & Freeman Company; utensils and other kitchen equipment by Harry F. Dobbs & Company and Atlanta Hotel & Restaurant Supply Company; bread and services and weekly donation by WGST; weekly cash donation by Zakas Bakery Company; coffee by Honduras Coffee Company; printing by Southern Printing Company; five tons coal by Stearns Coal Company, co-operation of wholesale grocers.

METHODIST MINISTER FACES CHURCH TRIAL

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 19.—(P)—The Alabama conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, today ordered a church trial of one minister on charges of immorality and authorized an investigation of "rumors" about another.

Charges against the Rev. S. R. Twitty, of the Andalusia district, were brought by the Rev. W. H. McNeal, his presiding elder. Mr. McNeal said he appointed a committee to investigate the charges, and the committee recommended a church trial.

Presiding Bishop W. N. Ainsworth named 13 elders to conduct the trial. Dr. J. R. Ellison, presiding elder of the Mobile district, reported that "rumors" about the Rev. S. T. Kimbrough, formerly of Mobile, but now of Birmingham, had led him to appoint a committee to investigate. The committee, he said, did not recommend a church trial.

Dr. Ellison said that he had heard later rumors, and recommended discontinuance of Dr. Kimbrough's membership in the conference, pending further investigation. The conference adopted his recommendation.

Mr. Cox, son of James M. Cox, democratic presidential nominee in 1920, and former governor of Ohio, and Miss Rumsey obtained their license yesterday. He listed his age as 27 and his occupation as publisher. She gave her age as 24 and her birthplace as New York.

Miss Rumsey is a granddaughter of Mose Rumsey, founder of the Rumsey Manufacturing Company, of St. Louis, Missouri.

CHARLOTTE OPENS DRIVE ON HOLDUPS
CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 19.—(P)—Charlotte was "in the air" today in its fight against a crime wave. A radio appeal for funds to offer as a reward for the capture of the bandits who held up and shot John S. Myers, 14-year-old Boy Scout, last Saturday to climax two weeks of hold-ups and robberies, was broadcast last night by the American Legion.

Legion officials said they expected several hundred dollars to be raised. During the broadcast, many persons called and said they were going to contribute to the reward fund. Myers is in a hospital here recovering from three bullet wounds. He was held up and shot in the exclusive Myers Park residential section after alighting from a street car.

Under the new arrangement, orders can be obtained at any Southern Railway system ticket office for the delivery of railroad and sleeping car or parlor car tickets to persons at any point in the United States where the journey contemplated is to a point on the Southern. A limited amount of cash also can be provided, this not to be more than half the cost of the railroad ticket and in no case to exceed $25.

FLORIDAN SEES END OF SLUMP IN MARCH
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 19.—(P)—Dr. J. T. Holdsworth, director of economic and business administration at the University of Miami, today told convention delegates of the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards that he expects the general business depression through the nation to end in March.

The present time is the lowest point of the depression, he said, and laid the blame for a depression upon business concerns who fail to seek new markets.

A simple book that outweighs many a bale of Cotton

Georgia farming is swinging to a business basis. With the cooperation of merchants and bankers, farmers in many sections are running their farms on a profitable production basis. They are raising food for themselves and their families—including vegetables and some meat. They are raising live-stock, and growing the feed for it. They are living off their land, so their money crops are clear profit.

More important, the farmers in these sections are beginning to keep records. They are learning how much effort, time and money it takes each year to raise each crop and each kind of live-stock. And the actual profit from these items—including their own food at market prices as part of the profit—is being credited to separate accounts, business management on the farm are becoming more and more important as "collateral" every year.

Georgia Power Company is interested in encouraging that kind of farming, and our Profitable Farming Award was designed to that end.

Our interest in the matter springs from the fact that our business depends on the prosperity of the whole state. If the farmers are prosperous, their prosperity influences all business, all manufacture, and every citizen. Hence it is our desire, as a business concern, to give practical help in encouraging profitable farming.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SALE!

THIS is one of those times when it seems desirable to emphasize the obvious.

Thus, good business in America is twelve months nearer revival than it was a year ago.

There are more people in the country now than then, more real money piling up in the banks, more wholesale, retail, consumers' shelves yawning for stock.

In the meanwhile Wear and Tear, Need and Desire—the Four Horsemen of commodity consumption—ride tirelessly on the job.

IF the combination of these obvious facts doesn't spell Opportunity in eye-smiting letters for the unafraid manufacturer of worthy goods we don't know our orthography.

A year from now many a Fabian businessman will look backward and regretfully wonder how he missed it.

The whole history of Business is golden testimony to the truth that in times like these the seeds of future growth and greatness are most fruitfully and most enduringly sown.

Even now, in almost every line, the businesses that are heeding this lesson by working instead of wishing are depression-proof and flourishing like the green bay tree!

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST feels kinship with every business that has the vision and the will to prosper.

It offers the deserving advertiser now, when needed a privileged entry under matchless sponsorship into the richest, soundest market on earth.

It carries his message straight to the preferred families of America—that hub three-million-strong which turns the taste, thinking, buying of the nation—and fortifies it with the indorsement of its own tested character.

If the facts about your product will make intelligent people want it, our advertising pages can be in all truth designated "Opportunity for Sale"!

MRS. ODELL BANKS.

"An attack of illness in 1918 left me badly weakened, and about three years ago I took a turn for the worse. I had indigestion terribly, and my bowels never moved without medicines of some kind. I had throbbing headaches, and acute pains in the back of my head and all over my body. At times my feet and legs would swell dreadfully and get numb. I couldn't walk until they were rubbed into life. Seven bottles of Sargon rid me of indigestion, headaches and body pains. I've gained thirteen pounds and my general improvement is too wonderful for words.

"Sargon Pills regulated my bowels perfectly. The swelling in my feet and legs went down, and I can now go anywhere I like. I just can't find words to recommend this wonderful treatment highly enough."

PILES

Ended Without Cutting or Salves. Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.

Radical cures of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leouhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 963 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leouhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and Jacobs' Pharmacy invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.—(adv.)

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of New York, one of the best-known figures in American life, will speak in Atlanta in the interest of the national youth radio conference and Christian Endeavor, Wednesday night at the Central Presbyterian church.

Dr. Poling speaks to millions each Sunday in the national youth radio conference under the direction of the National Broadcasting Company. He is president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, an interdenominational and international young people's organization with four million members throughout the world. Arrangements for the meeting are under the direction of Thomas C. Dickson and the Christian Endeavor societies of Atlanta. It is expected that Dr. Poling will draw a packed house here as he did when he spoke at the city auditorium last May.

Dr. Poling has been called "a master of achievement." He is general director of the J. C. Penney foundation, president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, editor-in-chief of the Christian Herald, and director of the national youth radio conference.

In the interest of the youth of the land, Dr. Poling is on a nation-wide tour covering 42 of the principal cities of the United States. He comes to Atlanta from Charlotte and will speak on the following night in Birmingham.

That part of his tour covering the northern part of the United States and the Pacific coast has already been covered, and it is reported that a great amount of interest has been manifested in the work he is endeavoring to do for youth. He has spoken to thousands at each of his stops.

Dr. Poling has a wonderful amount of confidence in youth and the work he is doing is ranked along with the greatest services devoted to the younger generation. In his radio conferences he serves as personal counselor and advisor to millions of young people and their friends everywhere, aiding those who have problems on which they need advice.

Dr. Poling has just recently returned from the world-wide Christian Endeavor convention in Berlin, over which he presided. At this convention, where many nations were gathered under the same banner, Dr. Poling spoke to as many as 15,000 young people at the same time.

PARKER NOT TO HOLD POST UNDER RUSSELL

The appointment of Adjutant General Homer C. Parker to be federal property and disbursing officer for the Georgia National Guard has been given the approval of Secretary of War Hurley as of November 18. It was announced Thursday. In this capacity General Parker assumes the duties of the late Lieutenant Colonel Arthur McCollum in addition to those of adjutant general.

General Parker stated Wednesday that he desired it known that he plans to make no effort to retain either of his two posts after Governor-elect Richard B. Russell, Jr., takes office. The general said he did not feel that he would like to remain in the guard as a subordinate to his successor nor did he expect a reappointment from Governor Russell.

Moultrie Farm Plan Is Lauded
By Willingham

"Georgia will never become permanently prosperous until a majority of the counties are served by county agents under direction of the extension service of the United States department of agriculture," Colonel Harris E. Willingham, vice president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, said in a radio address delivered Wednesday night in which he described the Moultrie plan of diversified farming.

"Businessmen and bankers of Moultrie," Colonel Willingham said, "took the initiative in providing markets for the products of the farm. These markets, in large part, consist of factories using the farm products as raw material and thus has Moultrie established diversified industry, twin brother of diversified farming."

"The Moultrie Chamber of Commerce," the Georgia chamber vice president continued, "is the clearing house for all community building activities. All classes are represented on the directorate and all promotional projects are given careful consideration and, if believed sound, are accorded 100 per cent support."

In his new capacity, Mr. Ottley will have supervision over the territory extending from Greensboro, N. C., to Macon, the intermediate points being Charlotte, N. C., Spartanburg, S. C., and Atlanta. His work not only includes supervision of air mail traffic, but will take in passenger service on December 10, when the company extends its New York-Richmond transport line to Atlanta and Miami.

Appealed Case Costs
Power Company $2,500

Victory in the higher courts on appeal of a damage suit Wednesday afternoon cost the Georgia Power Company twice the amount of the former verdict when a jury in city court of Atlanta awarded R. E. Strange $5,000 in a suit against the power company for injuries received in January, 1929.

The former verdict was $2,500, being upset by appeal by the power company. Strange was knocked down and injured by a street car while crossing on foot at Peachtree street and Auburn avenue. It was said. He moved to Houston, Texas, some time ago, and recently returned to Atlanta to prosecute the suit. Attorneys Thomas L. Slappey and John Dennis represented Strange and Walter Colquitt the power company.

The family returned to find the room filled with gas and the victim unconscious. Goss said it looked like a case of attempted suicide, but the doctor said the patient was too ill to reply.

CHEST CAMPAIGN SUCCESS IS NEAR

Workers Expect to Fill Quota of $398,550 and End Drive Friday.

Atlanta's quota of $398,550 to fill the Community Chest fund for the poor and needy seems assured of success, it was indicated Wednesday with report of $233,157 subscribed to date. The $165,393 balance needed to complete the quota will be raised during the next 48 hours. General Chairman Herbert N. Hutchinson declared at the Wednesday report luncheon, basing his prediction on the continued co-operation of campaign workers and whole-hearted response from the public.

It is planned to bring the drive officially to a close at the report luncheon Friday. Chairman Hutchinson stated. No general meeting of Chest solicitors will be held today but a "war council" of campaign colonels and majors is slated for noon today at the Ansley hotel.

Report of unanticipated large donations and an inspirational address by Arthur S. Bird, president of Rogers, Inc., sounded an enthusiastic note at the Wednesday gathering. Featuring the high notes of the fifth report conference was announcement of a total contribution of $19,500 from Sears, Roebuck & Company, reported by Joseph B. Wolfe, who organized the Sears, Roebuck campaign for the Chest with officials of the company. The gift represents $7,500 raised by employees of the local branch, $7,500 in accordance with the pledge of the home office at Chicago to contribute a sum equal to that raised by the Atlanta employees and additional $4,500 as the original subscription from the home office.

Viewing with the Junior League, which announced a contribution of $1,000 on the previous day, the Atlanta Rotary Club subscribed $1,000 to the Chest fund, it was announced Wednesday. Three firms were reported among the "100 percenters" at the luncheon. They were Rogers, grocery stores, Ernst & Ernst and F. L. Hand & Co.

Progress made in this year's campaign for the Community Chest was illustrated by Chairman Hutchinson in announcement that the fifth report luncheon found the drive $35,000 ahead of the campaign total reached by the fifth report luncheon last year.

Teams Over Top. Teams going over the top with their reports Wednesday included those of

Masons Complete Alto Clothing Fund

Oversubscription of the allotted quota in their campaign to raise funds with which to provide winter clothing for children in the state tuberculosis sanitarium at Alto was reported by the charity committee of the Atlanta Masonic Club at its luncheon meeting Wednesday. More than 1,200 Fulton county Masons contributed to the fund, which will be sufficient to clothe all young patients in the institution for the next six months, according to Dr. Claude N. Hughes, a member of the committee.

Other members are Herbert Porter, Julian Boehm, Turner Pittend and Simon, Selig, the latter having supervised purchase of the clothing from local wholesale dealers who made competitive bids for the contract. Individual distribution of the clothing, shipment of which already is under way, will be in charge of Dr. M. F. Haygood, superintendent of the Alto sanitarium.

Mrs. Frank Holland, chairman, advanced gifts of woman's division, quota $19,450; Major Harry Cannon, quota $1,500; Major Norton Holliston, quota $2,730; Major Mell, quota $1,850; Major E. R. Everett, quota $2,100; Mrs. George Ripley, of the Buckhead district, quota $900. The team under Major Roy Harwell, which completed its quota of $1,850 the previous day, Wednesday, announced additional subscriptions of $5,308, giving it a total of nearly 400 per cent of its quota.

Announcement was made that the Nineteenth Hole Indoor Golf Company would subscribe the entire receipts of its business Saturday to the Community Chest.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Employees Aid Chest

J. C. Grabbe, manager of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store here, presenting a check for $15,000 to the Community Chest, representing the amount raised by a co-operative agreement between Atlanta employees of Sears-Roebuck and the general management of the concern in Chicago, the latter matching dollar for dollar, all the money raised by employees for relief of unemployment. The money thus obtained for welfare work is in addition to $4,500 contributed by the local Sears-Roebuck establishment to the Chest and makes a total of $19,500 from that organization. Joe Wolfe, Chest campaign worker, who contacted with Sears-Roebuck, is receiving the check. E. A. Thornwell, president of the Chest, appears between them, and H. N. Hutchinson, general manager of the Chest campaign, is at the right.

Lack of Alimony Lands Conductor In Gotham Jail

Giuseppe Bamboschek, who conducted the Metropolitan opera here in 1928, blames the stock market in discharges for his incarceration in New York city as an alimony delinquent.

GIUSEPPE BAMBOSCHEK.

The famous baton wielder has been with the Metropolitan 15 years. Questioned as to why he was $1,200 in arrears to Mrs. Blanche Bamboschek, who was with him in Atlanta in 1928, now his divorced wife, the artist said:

"Ah! What can happen in these times since the recent recession of stock values? Concert contracts are suddenly cancelled. Tours end without warning. Managers are not able to pay. Impresarios can give no engagements. Every one suffers—and here I am in a hoosegow."

"You know," he added, "I have always wondered what the inside of a jail was like and now I know. In a way I shall be sorry to leave. I have received decorations from European nobility but this is a new kind of honor."

Bamboschek was popular with Atlanta opera-goers. Dudley Glass recalled Wednesday night. "The young conductor was more of an assistant than a conductor while here with the Metropolitan, but he certainly made himself felt," Mr. Glass said. "He was always one of the best dressed men in the opera contingent and attracted considerable attention both at the auditorium and uptown."

Capone Sister's Wedding Is Seen As Peace Match

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Tribune said today that the prospective marriage of Mafalda Capone, 18-year-old sister of Alphonse Capone, gang leader, to John Maritote, 23, is expected to banish any possibility of future dissension between the Capone and Frank Diamond factions of gangland.

The newspaper said it had verified reports that young Maritote is a brother of Diamond, who, like Capone, was named by the Chicago crime commission as a "public enemy." It added that Capone was reported to have promised a home and a $50,000 dowry to his sister. A license for the wedding, plans for which are under way, was obtained last Monday.

INTENTIONAL SHOOTING IS DENIED BY WOMAN

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Antoinette McCarris, accused of shooting Joseph Lee to death on a farm near here July 4 while in a jealous rage over another woman, today denied that she intentionally shot Lee or that she had ever threatened his life. Mrs. McCarris was the only defense witness heard in the trial. After her testimony counsel for the state and defense summarized their arguments and court was adjourned until tomorrow, when Judge Harold C. Knight will deliver his charge. Before adjourning Judge Knight refused a request of the jury to visit the scene of the shooting.

It's a happy day for you when you purchase that first interest-bearing bond, or make the first payment on your home with money you've saved systematically.

Q You have a right to be proud of yourself, too. That thousand dollars you've saved means more to you than just that much actual cash. It means you've developed a habit of immense value to you during your entire lifetime—the habit of thrift, the habit of saving.

It takes courage to start, and then it takes self-restraint to stay at it when you're tempted to spend the money. But there is friendly aid always available to you. At our main office or at any of our branches, you'll find a person (in our savings department) who will advise you in laying out your family budget. When you've budgeted your expenses, the laying aside of regular savings is made infinitely easier.

28 ARE RESCUED BY MAURETANIA OFF SINKING SHIP

of tumbling waters, wallowing through waves that kept the decks awash, and at times the freighter canted over with a tremendous list which shifted the cargo in her hold. Only the masts were visible at times as the heavy seas battered her, and she lurched so her propellers were sticking out of the water and could do little good. Her engines were still working but she could make only one knot an hour.

The Mauretania circled around the little freighter four times and then was advised by Captain Carlsson that he had decided to abandon ship. Even the dynamo furnishing current for the wireless equipment had given out.

By this time the America had reached the scene but the persons aboard the distressed freighter decided to go to the Mauretania. First one lifeboat put off, then another and at times it seemed as if they would sink. Now and then they would disappear from view completely, with the hundreds of passengers lining the rail of the Mauretania crying "They're gone." But the sturdy little boats would bob up in view again and finally, after strenuous efforts, the crew of the Ovidia clambered up rope ladders to safety amid the jubilant shouts of passengers. Even the ship's cat was saved, brought aboard clasped in the arms of a sailor.

As the last view of the Ovidia showed the craft dipping deeper and near sinking entirely, Captain Carlsson remarked:

"Thank God we were on the track of the big liners. All last night the motion of our ship was uneasy. She was unlike herself and developed a very heavy list to starboard. We found water in No. 2 hold about midnight, and the heavy cargo of timber shifted so much that we decided to send out on S O S. Later, our prospects grew hopeless and we gave a great sigh of relief when the smoke of the Mauretania, with Captain MacNeill directing her, showed over the horizon."

Miss Viola Tree, a passenger on the Mauretania, immediately took charge of Mrs. Carlsson, who is a beautiful Swedish woman and was on her second voyage with her husband. She outfitted Mrs. Carlsson with clothing.

The American freighter Endicott, third ship to steam up for the rescue, was not needed and resumed her course.

335 TAKEN FROM SHIP

CAUGHT BY ROCKS

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The proud ship Highland Hope stuck fast in the treacherous rocks not far from the village of Peniche tonight while the sea broke her to pieces, and 335 men and women, taken off her just after dawn today, were safe in hotels here.

She had lost her course in a heavy fog and at 5 o'clock this morning ran upon the rocks with a shock which shook the passengers out of their bunks. Lifeboats were lowered quickly, and S O S screamed through the morning and the officers and crew stood by as the passengers were put into the boats.

J. M. Mackay, on his way to Rio de Janeiro in the Highland Hope, was one of the trainload of castaways brought here this evening from Peniche.

"That first shock when the vessel struck threw me out of bed," he said. "I ran up to the decks, which were already crowded, and saw the ship's bow was fast on the rocks. Women were running about in hysterics, shivering in their night clothes."

"She seemed to work herself loose from the rocks, then a sea picked her up and threw her around again. The men were getting the boats over and the women piled in. One boat was shoved off when some Spanish emigrants, panic-stricken, jumped in and the boat tipped over. I was in it."

"Six of us struck out while the crew saved the others. We swam half a mile until a fishing boat picked us up. All the time the ship's siren was screaming, and fishing boats were all about us. Our rescuers bundled us up in warm clothes and gave us brandy and put us ashore at Peniche."

Armando Deshetres, with a worn woolen sweater pulled over his head, told his story over a bowl of steaming coffee.

"I thought we had collided with another ship," said he, "but I saw soon enough that we had hit the rocks. A great gash opened near the stern and the water flooded the cabins. We got away in the boats with hardly any confusion. We were pretty lucky."

One of the hardest of the passengers was the 76-year-old Duchess of Hamilton, who was bound for Buenos Aires. She was generous in her praise for the Highland Hope's officers and crew.

"The ship's lights were still blazing," she said, "as our men rowed toward the shore, and we lost sight of the ship in the heavy fog. I was glad to know that the captain and his crew had been taken off before they were lost."

The Highland Hope was on the way from London to Buenos Aires with 335 first-class passengers, including many representatives of British business houses en route to Buenos Aires for the British trade exposition to be opened next year. There were also a number of Spanish emigrants on the way to make new homes in South America, and 149 in the crew.

The Highland Hope, a Nelson Line ship, was put into service only last January.

FIVE SEAMEN DROWNED

AN FREIGHTERS COLLIDE

ANTWERP, Belgium, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Five seamen were drowned tonight in a collision of the British steamers Continental Freighter and Hebble during a storm in Antwerp roads.

YORK'S GANG TERM

TO START FEB. 15

LeCraw for the state, and by Attorney B. C. Broyles for the defense.

On the stand, Robinson denied that he had done anything wrong knowingly, and by examination of Leach the defense sought to establish that it was the custom for small bits of material to be sold to the police.

Leach testified in the instance of a bath tub that Robinson asked to buy it and he told him to see some one else about it.

"I always did what I thought was my duty, and I bought a bath tub through Leach," Robinson said. "I don't know where they get this stealing business. I get wrought up sometimes when I think of it. I always tried to carry everything back that belonged to the city."

Most of the testimony for the state centered around demolition of old buildings on the new city hall site.

W. R. Taylor testified that he helped Robinson build a garage at Hansell's home, and that "Robinson was my boss and Hansell was his boss." Some of the cement used came from the city warehouse, he "guessed," but the "guesswork" was ruled out by Judge Pomeroy.

Workmen Take Stand.

Several witnesses testified that while working on the raising of buildings on the new city hall site, Robinson told them to "be careful—I want that." Leach testified it was the custom for foremen to tell their men to be careful. Other witnesses told of seeing material loaded up on Robinson's truck and at Robinson's home.

Trial of Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, of the ninth ward, on a bribery charge, is scheduled for Monday. Demurrers will be heard by Judge Pomeroy Saturday.

Trial of ex-City Clerk Walter C. Taylor, who has been convicted twice, is scheduled for today, but it was not known definitely Wednesday night whether it will be postponed again. If the Taylor case is checked, another of the graft cases set for today will be put on trial, it was said.

York and Wallis pleaded guilty in Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court, bringing the total number of guilty pleas in graft cases to five, Bruce Baxter, Wiley W. Melton and Dr. S. D. Warnock being the other three.

Operations of York and his former business associate, Jack White, in the Southeastern Brokerage Company formed one of the most sensational of all of the graft cases. White has been convicted twice, and is under sentence to pay a fine of $2,500 and serve 36 months on charges of defrauding the city, and pay a fine of $1,000 and serve 12 months on a bribery charge.

York faces, in addition to the sentences imposed Wednesday, a sentence involving payment of $4,000 in fines and a term of 36 months on the chain gang, or fines of $3,000 and 60 months on the chain gang. The plea of guilty and sentence recorded Wednesday will not affect the case on which he was convicted and on which the appeal is pending. It was declared by Solicitor-General Boykin in answer to a question by Judge Pomeroy. In replying to the higher court for a new trial, York filed a pauper's affidavit on payment of costs.

In a statement issued following disposal of his case, York said: "I was financially unable to fight these cases through the courts and did not even have the money to pay for the court records if I had contested the charges."

One year ago Tuesday on the floor of city council, Alderman Ben T. Huie declared during discussion of a report on city hall wiring: "I just want to say that I was told that $3,500 was to be spent in this building to pass the wiring which was installed."

This remark is generally credited with starting the city graft investigation.

On the heels of Huie's statement, York made a motion that council ask Huie to tell who "they are in order that criminal libel proceedings can be instituted. I'll pay my share of the prosecution."

Council passed the York motion, but Huie later replied that his information was confidential, and that he did not believe the charge himself, but had mentioned it in order to defend his colleagues.

Terms Concurrent.

Judge Pomeroy gave York 12 months on each of three indictments, the sentences to run concurrently, and allowed the defendant until February 15 to settle his personal affairs before serving the sentence. The indictments charged York with receiving money from D. F. Seybold in connection with purchase of Indiana trucks for the school and streets department; receiving money from Lawrence Manning in connection with purchase with Elgin motor street sweepers; and receiving money from Maynard B. Smith morning. Wallis was charged in the cases of W. A. Adcock, Frank Callaway, J. Allen Couch and J. R. Leach were checked to this morning. Witnesses in all other graft cases were excused until further notice.

Judge Pomeroy deferred passing sentence on Wallis until next Wednesday.

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. —(adv.)

Much Mud Slung As Emory 'Sophs' Defeat Freshmen

Emory's big, rough sophomores barely nosed out the freshmen by the score of 24-1 in the pushball game Wednesday afternoon on the school field at the main event of annual "Freshman Day." Rain, falling a half-hour before the game started, was just enough to make the field nice and muddy.

The game was a rough and tumble affair featured by fighting and mud-slinging, in the true sense of the word, on both sides. The only warning given the freshmen by their coach before the start of the game was "Don't punch the same sophomore in the same eye more than twice."

In starting the game off, the huge seven-foot spiker was placed in the center of the 80-yard field and 27 men of each team lined up 10 yards away on either side of the ball. At a signal, the teams tore at each other and the ball, knocking, pushing, fighting and scratching in their effort to carry it down the field.

The game consisted of six periods of four minutes each, with new men going in each period. The sophomores scored first, carrying the ball over the line in the second period. The freshmen came back to tie in the fourth, pushing the sophomores and the ball over the goal line. The sophomores scored the winning goal in the final period.

After the game was over, the freshmen, protesting that the second touchdown accredited to the sophs was illegal on the grounds that the ball did not cross the goal line, met on the side of the field and resolved not to wear their rat caps any longer; and proceeded to chase the sophomores off the field with mud and fists.

F. L. IRWIN DEATH IS HELD SUICIDE

A verdict of suicide was returned by a coroner's jury Wednesday investigating the death of Frank L. Irwin, 48-year-old salesman, who died Tuesday at Grady hospital a few hours after a negro maid had found him in the basement of his home at 771 Lee street, S. W., with a bullet wound in his head and a pistol lying near by. The inquest was held at the establishment of Awtry & Lowndes by Coroner Paul Donohoe.

Services for Mr. Irwin will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the West End Baptist church by the Rev. M. A. Cooper. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery with full Masonic ritual.

Mr. Irwin was employed by A. Nash Company, Inc., of 118 Marietta street, and had formerly been connected with the J. M. High Company. He was a past master of Piedmont Lodge, F. & A. M., and a member of the Berean class of the West End Baptist church.

CALIFORNIAN FREED IN COBB AUTO CASE

Richard Shipley, Los Angeles manufacturer, who was arrested on October 26 by Cobb county deputies on a charge of speeding, was acquitted by a jury in Cobb superior court Tuesday.

When Mr. Shipley appeared to answer an indictment which charged him with illegal use of a California license in Georgia, he found the charge had been changed to speeding, according to Charles Cook, secretary of the Atlanta Motor Club, who helped defend Mr. Shipley. After hearing the testimony of the deputies and Mr. Shipley, the jury deliberated only 20 minutes before reaching a verdict.

"Since Tuesday several prominent Cobb county citizens have called at our office and congratulated Mr. Shipley and the motor club on the acquittal," Mr. Cook said Wednesday. "The people of Cobb county resent the high handed manner in which their county officers carry on and we feel sure that in the future no motorist will be treated as harshly as Mr. Shipley."

Mr. Shipley reported that the deputies stopped his car, searched for liquor and when they failed to find any abused him and preferred the minor charges, though he was violating no law, he said.

KEPT IN THE LOVE OF GOD—But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith praying in the Holy Ghost, keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.—Jude 20, 21.

PRAYER—"O Lord Thy love our spirit-brother, And make us all bear fruit to Thee."

A FAIR WARNING!

A strong and timely warning is given to the city by Mr. Apperson, whose letter is printed on this page.

What he says with regard to the December referendum on the cut of the city council to a workable and reliable status deserves the close consideration of every voting, tax-paying citizen of the city.

Mayor-designate Key has strongly urged two salient reforms—

That of a citizen competent control of Grady hospital is assured, since the mayor will appoint the controlling board of that vital institution. So far, so good.

The other paramount reform is council reduction.

Yielding to a manifest pressure of public sentiment the present council voted to submit the proposition to the electors at the city election on December 3. That, also, is good, provided the voters of the borough become wide awake to the situation, vote for what they want, and get it. If they fail to vote for what they want, they will surely not get it.

Ordinarily, the primary is conclusive and most of those who vote in it stay away from the regular election, regarding it as a mere formality.

In this case there is a great difference—one that demands that the registered voters, whether they voted in the primary or did not, should now resolve to go to their polls on December 3 and say by their ballots whether they favor a continuance of present councilmanic conditions, or want the reform of them that is embodied in the referendum proposition.

That may be taken as a sure thing that those who profit politically or financially by the present system that produced the outrageous grafting, for which several notable re-elections have been obtained, and the existence of which has been confessed both by witnesses and by accused officials pleading guilty in open court, will marshal all their partisans and dependents to the polls.

It is the steady-going citizen, the busy businessman, the professional men, the home-making women and the occupied workers who will be tempted to ignore the big importance of council reform and not go to the polls on election day.

That absence may be fatal to the reconstruction of the city government system that has rotted in our hands.

If the referendum proposition fails it will continue that rotten system.

It will be taken by the political profiteers and grafters as a popular endorsement of their conduct and their crimes.

It will mean that the city government will continue as the carcass on which ward politicians, tax-eaters and grafters may prey at their will and without fear of detection and punishment.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

The Salon.

Old Rubens would dance a jig could he come back today and see the Paris autumn salon which just opened its annual exhibition in the Grand Palais. The walls of the rooms are a great apothecary of nudes, in all shapes, attitudes, colors and proportions. It is curious to notice that the decrees of fashion about boyish shapes for women, although lately a little relaxed, do not fit on the painters' canvases. This year's output at any rate seems not to know the "garcon" style. The canvases are ample, robust and free, varying from the voluminous type shown in Rubens' "Rape of the Sabine" to the chubby kind of cherubs and angels with which the aristocracy decorated its ceilings in the romantic period. Now one nude, or two of them or three even might not be an unpleasant sight, but twelve or thirteen hundred fleshy damsels, bunched together in one collection becomes a bit thick, as it were. It strangely calls up visions of abattoirs or of a night-march attack in which limbs and arms and torso go flying up and higher.

The autumn salon represents the work of the official painters. No breath of scandal has ever been raised against it. One may easily see the artist's maiden aunt to see the exhibition. The good lady is not likely to be shocked. All is decorum and excellent taste. A good taste, however, could be steered past the rooms containing the undraped amazons. For they are all in a bundle, for some reason or other. There are, of course, many fine landscapes, marvelous drawings, etchings, watercolors and crayon sketches without number, but the nude is the main attraction.

The opinion of Postmaster-General Brown and his aids that the Atlanta-Los Angeles route will be the all-year "Sunshine route to the Pacific coast" and be a 400 per cent success.

A conference on aviation is now being held at the Biltmore hotel in this city and the interest of the southern section, with its hub in Atlanta, in the future promotion of passenger and goods transport by airplanes will be elaborately considered. It is already conceded that this city may become one among the greater centers of air traffic, calling upon our enterprise to furnish whatever facilities that increasing traffic may demand.

Very soon the "Jovian eagles of the sky" will be heading into and out of Atlanta in daily flocks, bringing tourists, business and social passengers, mails and freight from all parts of the nation. And just as in our earlier era we made haste to welcome and provide for the "riders of the rails" when they began to reach their multiple armies from the city to the nation at large, so must we be prompt and liberal in making suitable provision for this new and amazing form of transport. We have begun well and must go on to a perfected status in the aviation world.

A PARTISAN RECESS.

Whoever they may be in either party who balk and prevent concerted action in the coming session of the congress to cure the prevailing business depression and recover as much as possible of the people's prosperity, will assume very grave responsibilities.

The fact cannot be ignored that just now there are strong divisions of opinion in both party representations in the congress on economic, labor, employment, farm and foreign trade issues. These divisions are likely to be found aggravated by results from the recent congressional elections. That prospect would indicate that the congress session, a few days more than three months in duration, will accomplish practically nothing in the way of general remedial legislation. That will be inevitable if sharp partisanship is to take command in both houses.

What the people, who are the almost universal victims of the prevailing economic conditions, want more than anything else is wise, practical and non-political attention to their needs, without respect to parties or sections. They hold that this is, indeed, a time for so much of an adjournment of politics as is necessary for a patriotic adjustment of the economic affairs of industries and consumers. When that shall have been attained, without partisan heat and jockeying, there will be ample time for the party leaders to square off at each other and "play politics" for a future decision by a busy, prospering and contented constituency.

Warning Issued That Schemers Are Seeking To Defeat Key Plan For Council and Ward Reduction

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Editor Constitution: I very warmly commend your editorial congratulating Mayor-designate Key for two notable achievements made in advance of his inauguration.

First, reduction in size of council.

Second, the reorganization of Grady hospital control by putting this important non-profit corporation under the hands of five non-political and non-partisan trustees.

I am afraid, however, that you are going a little too fast in assuming that these reforms have already been accomplished.

Grady hospital seems to be all right for it will be up to Mayor Key to appoint the new board.

It is different, however, with the proposed reform in the matter of the reduction of council. This question has simply been submitted to the people in the shape of a referendum to be decided in the city election the first week in December.

Mark my word for it, unless the people of this city are awakened to the situation scheming ward politicians will defeat this reform. They are taking it for granted that the city is asleep as usual and that very few voters will go to the polls. They are organizing now to bring out their forces in each ward and unless those who are in favor of redeeming the city government make known their clashes, expand the ministrations of the family doctor in their behalf and very greatly increase the hospital facilities for them. A REVIEW OF THE VERRUCA SITUATION.

Verruca is not a place in South America and I am not Kallenborn—who, by the way, is for me the hardest of all radio features to turn off—but the verruca outbreak is sufficiently serious, I judge from the letters, to merit consideration.

It is a disease which begins to show its term verminously when I mean warts, but if we frankly entitled this something about warts a lot of readers would not read it at all.

A Birmingham reader tells of an old gentleman who has grown old and gray and is now a very old man.

There is another. A lot of people have assured me that warts invariably disappear if you just gently rub them with castor oil.

Here is another: Where there are numerous warts in a group, they will disappear, in many cases, if you paint the warts and intervening skin with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion. This should be done once or twice a week for three or four times.

A very good remedy for single warts is a remedy which consists of the corn, wart, callus each evening with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion. This should be done once or twice a week for three or four times.

I warn persons who have warts or any kind of skin disease not to touch the face, neck or head, not to trifle with any such experiment. The only safe and satisfactory course for one with warts is to have them removed by a physician or surgeon for proper treatment.

The nature or cause of warts is not clearly known. There is some reason to assume that a wart is due to a specific bacterial infection of the skin.

Course toads have nothing to do with them.

Neither has grandma's salt pork or a graveyard at midnight. And being so, it is not strange that people harbor so many old notions about the cause or cure of warts.

The practice of burning out warts with caustics or with acids is cruel, painful and often disappointing. Much simpler, clearer and more comfortable is to let your doctor shoot a mite of local anesthetic under the wart and then neatly excise it and seal the wound with a dressing.

Diathermy (electro-coagulation, electro-removal, catheterization, cautery, X-ray, fulguration, electro-surgery, etc.) are all satisfactory methods of treatment in suitable cases. The physician's judgment is as to the desirability to avoid any scar formation.

An old and satisfactory remedy for growths or masses of warts on the hands, is Vlemick's solution—a solution of lime and sulphur—

Time (unsalted) . . . 1-2 ounces
Sulphur . . . 1 ounce
Distilled water . . . 10 ounces
Boil down to six ounces and use.

Apply this lotion twice a day, for several days, or until a mild irritation of the skin develops. Then wait a week or longer, if the warts persist, resume the use of the lotion for several more days.

Williams and Miss Louise Shipley.

Other Boards Picked.

Various other boards and committees were also appointed.

About 450 ministers and laymen attended the opening session, leaders said. They expected the full membership of between 500 and 600 would be present tomorrow.

Bishop Moore's address called on ministers to the conference to "take the church to people in your communities that don't want it. They need it."

The bishop said it was necessary to bring leaders of rural, town, city, county, state and national life into the church and have the right kind of communities.

"If people won't come to church it is your duty as ministers to take the church to them," he said. "You must not continue to be leaders of your communities who will soon not be ministers."

"When people learn to return to normal, natural conditions there will be greater development in our conferences and country as a whole," Bishop Moore said.

"Churches, like life, change. We must recognize the fact and meet changed conditions within the church. You must rework your sermons. Sermons of 20 years ago will not satisfy congregations of today. It is a different world that when you were young and it is changing every day."

"You must look into the future so that the church will be ready to take care of such developments that are bound to come. Meet these changed conditions."

"The church at heart because of the strict environment in which it was reared," Bishop Moore said, "and have never been able to reconcile any of the conditions of the church with the conditions of the world."

"Ministers have no place in politics as leaders of parties. It is none of our business except as the body politic applies to type of men in our public life. We should be Christians in the conduct of our lives."

"Thank God for our Governor-elect whom I understand is a Christian gentleman."

Visitors Introduced.

Bishop Moore introduced the following visiting ministers to the conference: The Rev. S. A. Belcher, of Brazil; Dr. A. M. Pierce, of Atlanta; the Rev. G. L. Morelock and the Rev. J. P. Rawls, both of Nashville; the Rev. R. D. Sipple, Missouri conference; the Rev. W. E. K. Piner and Dr. Cooper, Florida conference; and Dr. Luther E. Todd, St. Louis, secretary of the general conference board of finance.

Dr. Todd spoke on the superannuated endowment fund. He said in the eight years of the board $500,000 of the $10,000,000 goal had been raised and appealed to the conference to raise its part of the fund within the next four years.

The old board of education reported financial obligation funded or materially reduced during the year. It included payment of the remainder of a $45,000 indebtedness of South Georgia College, reduction of Sparks College from $76,000 to $50,000 and the reduction of an Andrew College bond issue.

Dr. F. Smith, of Quitman, was re-elected secretary of the conference at the opening session.

BANKRUPTCY ASKED FOR CALDWELL FIRM

President of Big Banking Firm Plans To Resist Petition.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were instituted in United States district court today against Caldwell & Co., while federal receivers appointed last week under a general order, continued the management of the company's affairs.

Caldwell & Co. has until December 9 to answer the allegations made by three purported creditors that the company is "hopelessly insolvent and has been for four months." The involuntary petition declared that Caldwell & Co. committed an act of bankruptcy November 13 by consenting to the appointment of receivers under the general creditors' bill.

Rogers Caldwell, president of Caldwell & Co., said tonight that the petition "certainly will be resisted."

The petition also alleges that some of the company's indebtedness is "well secured and some of it is poorly secured, and some of it is unsecured."

"It is further shown that said company in the management of its affairs within the past four months has created many subsidiary corporations and subsidiary trading corporations and business interests and in the conduct of its business has been able to and has diverted and switched its assets from itself to different ones of these subsidiary companies and by so doing has caused many Chattanooga preferences and acts of bankruptcy."

The petition was filed by Dyer county, claiming a $391.58 and R. E. L. Gallimore, a Weekly News citizen, who said he was due $250 as salary from the company. The Dyer county account was said by the petition to be due a balance on the sale of bonds by the county to Caldwell & Co.

THE GUMPS—WHAT A PITY

The MURDER at the VICARAGE
BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

INSTALLMENT L.

Some magnanimity in her glance impelled me to hold out the last anonymous letter, the one I had opened so short a time ago. It set out in detail that Griselda had been seen leaving Lawrence Redding's cottage by the back window at half past six on the fatal day.

I said nothing then, or at any time, of the dreadful suspicion that had for one moment assailed my mind. I had seen it in nightmare terms—past intrigue between Lawrence and Griselda, the knowledge of it coming to Protheroe's ears, his decision to make me acquainted with the facts, and Griselda, desperate, stealing the pistol and silencing Protheroe. As I say—a nightmare only—but invested for a few long minutes with a dreadful appearance of reality.

I don't know whether Miss Marple had any inkling of all this. Very probably she had. Few things are hidden from her.

She handed me back the note with a little nod.

"That's been all over the village," she said. "And it did look rather suspicious, didn't it? Especially with Mrs. Archer swearing at the inquest that the pistol was still in the cottage when she left at midday."

"But I'm wandering terribly from the point. What I want to say—and I believe it my duty—is to put my own explanation of the mystery before you. If you don't believe it—well, I shall have done my best. Even as it is, my wish to be quite sure before I spoke may have cost poor Mr. Hawes his life."

Again she paused, and when she resumed her voice held a different note. It was less apologetic, more decided.

"This is my own explanation of the facts. By Thursday afternoon the crime had been fully planned down to the smallest detail. Lawrence Redding first called on the vicar, knowing him to be out. He had with him the pistol which he concealed in that pot in the stand by the window. When the Vicar came in, Lawrence explained his visit by a statement that he had made up his mind to go away. At five thirty, Lawrence Redding telephoned from the North Lodge to the vicar, adopting a woman's voice (you remember what a good amateur actor he was).

"Mrs. Protheroe and her husband had just started for the village. And—a very curious thing (though no one happened to think of it that way)—Mrs. Protheroe took no handbag with her. Really a most unusual thing for a woman to do. Just before twenty past six she passes my garden and stops and speaks, so as to give me every opportunity of noticing her. She has no weapon with her and she is quite her normal self. They realized, you see, that I am a noticing kind of person. She disappears around the corner of the house to the study window. The poor colonel is sitting at the desk writing his letter to you. He is doing his best, as all know. She takes the pistol from the bowl where it is waiting for her, comes up behind him and shoots him through the head, throws down the pistol and is out again like a flash and going down the garden to the studio. Nearly any one would swear that there couldn't have been time."

"But the shot?" objected Colonel Melchett. "You didn't hear the shot?"

"There is, I believe, an invention called a Maxim silencer. So I shan't leave the garden till they come out again!"

I had never liked Miss Marple better than at this moment, with her humorous perception of her own weakness.

"When they do come out, their demeanor is gay and natural. And there, in reality, they make a mistake. Because if they had really said good-bye to each other, as they pretended, they would have looked very different. But you see, that was their weak point. They simply dare not appear upset in any way. For the next ten minutes they are careful to provide themselves with what is called an alibi."

By, I believe. Finally Mr. Redding goes to the vicarage, leaving it as late as he dares. He probably saw you on the footpath from far away and was able to time matters nicely. He picks up the pistol and the silencer, leaves the forged letter with the time of it written in a different ink and apparently in a different handwriting. When the forgery is discovered it will look like a clumsy attempt to incriminate Anne Protheroe.

"But when he leaves the letter he finds the one actually written by Colonel Protheroe—something quite unexpected. And being a very intelligent young man, and seeing that this letter may come in very useful to him, he takes it away with him. He alters the hands of the clock to the same time as the letter—knowing that it is always kept a quarter of an hour fast. The same clock attempt to throw suspicion on Mrs. Protheroe. Then he leaves, meeting you outside the gate, and acting the part of some one nearly distraught. As I say, he is really most intelligent. What would a murderer who had committed a crime try to do? Behave naturally, of course. So that is just what Mr. Redding does not do. He gets rid of the silencer, but marches into the pot which takes everybody in."

"There was something fascinating in Miss Marple's resume of the case. She spoke with such certainty that we both felt that in this way and in no other could the crime have been committed."

"What about the shot heard in the wood?" I asked. "Was that the coincidence to which you were referring earlier this evening?"

"Oh dear, no," Miss Marple shook her head briskly. "That wasn't a coincidence—very far from it. It was absolutely necessary that a shot should be heard—otherwise suspicion of Mrs. Protheroe might have been continued. How Mr. Redding arranged it, I don't quite know. But I understand that picric acid explodes if you drop a weight on it, and you will remember dear Vicar, that you met Mr. Redding carrying a large stone just in the part of the wood where you picked up that crystal later. Gentlemen are so clever at arranging things—the stone suspended above the crystals and then a time fuse—or do I mean a slow match? Something that would take about 20 minutes to burn through—so that the explosion would come about 8.20, when he and Mrs. Protheroe had come out of the studio and were in full view. A very safe device because what would there be fire after—only a big stone! But even that he tried to remove—when you came upon him."

"I believe you are right," I exclaimed, remembering the start of surprise Lawrence had given on seeing me that day. It had seemed natural enough at the time, but now—

Miss Marple seemed to read my thoughts, for she nodded her head shrewdly.

"Yes," she said, "it must have been a very nasty shock for him to come across you just then. But he turned it off very well—pretending he was bringing it to me for my rock garden. Only—Miss Marple became suddenly very emphatic. "It was the wrong kind of stone for a rock garden! And that put me on the right track!"

All this time Colonel Melchett had sat like a man in a trance. Now he showed signs of coming to. He snatched once or twice, blew his nose in a bewildered fashion, and said:

"Upon my word! Well, upon my word!"

Beyond that he did not commit himself. I think that he, like myself, was impressed with the logical certainty of Miss Marple's conclusion. But for the moment he was not willing to admit it.

Instead he stretched out a hand, picked up the crumpled letter, and barked out:

"All very well. But how do you account for this (pointing to the letter)?"

"Yes—that was what was so providential. The vicar's sermon, doubtless, you know, dear Mr. Clement, you really preached a most remarkable sermon. It must have affected Mr. Hawes deeply. He could bear it no longer, and felt he must confess about the misappropriation of the church funds."

GEORGIANS HELD CHILD'S DEATH

Coroner's Jury Charges Beating and Strangling of 11-Year-Old Girl.

CLEVELAND, Ga., Nov. 19.—Sheriff W. A. Jackson said today that he had arrested Mrs. Mamie Clayton, a widow, and William Yates, in connection with the death of Mrs. Clayton's 11-year-old daughter, Lorene.

The man and woman were charged with beating and strangling the child to death. Both denied the charges. The arrests followed an investigation by the sheriff and Coroner J. E. Henderson at the Clayton home in Mossy Bottom, five miles south of here.

Mrs. Clayton told a coroner's jury that the child appeared ill Monday morning but that she had no medicine and that no doctors were near. She said she and Yates poured cold water on the child's face and body in an effort to revive her, but failed.

First indication of foul play, the sheriff said, came as the family was preparing to bury her. A neighboring farmer, W. W. Lott, appeared at the sheriff's office here and said he saw bruises and marks on the girl's throat and body, leading him to believe she had been beaten and strangled.

The burial was immediately ordered postponed and an investigation was launched.

Sheriff Jackson questioned the mother and Yates today but said he was unable to find any motive for the girl's killing.

The mother, in a statement to the coroner's jury, said that Lorene had spent Sunday night in a large closet adjoining Mrs. Clayton's room. The closet, although without windows, had been used by the girl as sleeping quarters for some time, her mother said.

"Monday morning I called Lorene and told her to get up and help me fix breakfast," Mrs. Clayton said. "She came out of the closet, and fell on the bed and groaned once. I went on fixing breakfast and came back in the room later and knew she was sick. But I couldn't do anything. I didn't have any medicine and there weren't any doctors near."

Mrs. Clayton said Yates had spent the night at the Clayton home and had helped her try to revive the girl. She said they poured water on her face and body, but that it failed to arouse her.

One of the greatest medical developments along popular lines has been in the use of aspirin until today it has come into more general use than quinine. Just as quinine is quinine or is not quinine—so aspirin is either aspirin or it is not aspirin. The medical profession and public alike have learned to depend upon St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin because of its guaranteed purity and conformity to every government standard. Many thousands of people have learned it is neither sensible nor necessary to pay more than ten cents for one dozen pure aspirin tablets. St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin is sold everywhere for ten cents for twelve five grain tablets in convenient tins. One of the reasons that have made St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin the largest selling aspirin in the world for ten cents is that it is so generally known in medical circles that the manufacturers of St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin guarantee that it's pure as money can buy.

LEGAL BATTLE MARKS TRIAL OF WESTBERRY

State Presents Testimony of Youth's Alleged Confession.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Testimony that Austin Westberry, 19, admitted the slaying of W. H. Browning, was offered Wednesday at Westberry's trial on a charge of murder.

W. D. Martin, commissioner of Lowndes county, testified that Westberry, in his presence, dictated a statement alleged to have been made by the defendant in the jail at Quitman was the truth. "I have told the truth," Martin quoted Westberry as saying.

A statement bearing the name of Austin Westberry and saying that he fired the shot that killed Browning, a filling station operator, was admitted to the court records over protests of defense attorneys. Browning and his wife were fatally shot in what officers described as an attempt to rob their filling station here recently. Four other men await trial in connection with the slaying.

A legal battle between state and defense attorneys over testimony of H. R. Edwards, attorney for Lowndes county and a member of the Georgia legislature, took place during the day. Mr. Edwards was called as a witness by the state and asked if, during an interview in the Brooks county jail, he had heard Austin Westberry say that he (Westberry) killed Browning. The witness said the information came to him as an attorney and he did not wish to answer the question. The state argued that since Mr. Edwards does not represent Westberry he had no right to invoke this privilege in refusing to answer. The court ruled the evidence was competent. The state finally excused him but announced he might be recalled to answer the question.

R. A. Norton identified a shirt which he said he had seen Travers Erwin, one of the defendants, wear on a fishing trip with him. The shirt, which he said he saw on Erwin, contains the shirt worn by Erwin on the day the Brownings were slain.

The defense objected to the introduction of the shirt as evidence, claiming that Erwin was not on trial and the evidence was irrelevant. The objection was overruled by Judge W. E. Thomas just before court was adjourned for the day.

Grand Juror Testified.
Earlier, W. B. Gainer, city engineer and a member of the grand jury which first indicted the five men, testified regarding Westberry's alleged confession before the grand jury. Gainer's testimony was admitted over defense objection.

Commissioner Martin was cross-examined by the defense regarding a shotgun with which the state contended Browning was shot. The commission testified that the shotgun had been "planted" in the negative, and described the care taken to preserve finger prints on it. Westberry's alleged confession gave a detailed account of what the state claims was a conspiracy among five men to rob and kill Browning and his wife. Defense attorneys objected to the claim that it was not given voluntarily, and announced they would attempt to prove it was obtained under duress.

NEGRO BOUND OVER IN DARIEN KILLING

Sheriff Poppell and Officer Anderson were the only witnesses examined. A Fred Bryant was said by Georgia Grant to have been in McIntosh county jail, to have been with him the night Freeman and Anderson were shot. Several Fred Bryants have been under suspicion since of having been implicated.

Baptist Schools, Colleges Urged To Help Raise Funds

Resolutions, Adopted at Convention, Recommend Institutions Undertake To Furnish $35,000.

Hospital Program Mapped.
The Baptist hospital, in Atlanta, is asked to initiate "a program to appeal to those specially interested in the hospital, to make their best efforts to set up a fund of $20,000 if possible, to be applied to bond obligations maturing in 1937, leaving $30,000 to be paid out of the cooperative receipts. This does not mean to imply that the convention seeks to evade its moral and legal responsibility for the entire $35,000, but that it is merely a method supplementary to our co-operative program to find a way of financing this obligation."

The resolutions urged upon the hospital commission and the trustees that they "use their best efforts to set up a hospital program to become effective January 1, 1937, which will make it possible to relieve the convention of the necessity of making any allocation of the cooperative receipts. Co-operative Program.
The following items will be included in the co-operative program: Foreign missions, home missions, state missions, orphanage, ministerial education, relief and annuity and hospital charities.

These resolutions were drawn up because "all of our denominational agencies and institutions are having very great difficulty with the problem of financing themselves, some of them being in more or less desperate straits for other reasons." The document, it was adopted unanimously.

The convention opened Tuesday with a fairly good attendance. Hundreds came through the damp weather today and before noon delegates and visitors were standing in the rain. The first Baptist church in Savannah, president, called the convention to order, a resolution by Spencer B. King, Atlanta, and R. H. Hardy, Barrenville, at the suggestion of Dr. Charles E. Burts, pastor of the First Baptist church of Macon, was adopted "for the purpose of giving the public correct information as to the action of the convention in adopting a financial goal for 1937."

The budget resolution which was adopted follows:
"The total amount of the goal set up for 1937 in the appeal to the churches is $300,000, the same as for several years past. The annual receipts which came into the office of the treasurer during 1936, as has been the custom, forms the basis of distribution of program funds. The goal, which has been a reduction in the goal. Plans were inaugurated in the executive committee's report looking towards increased efforts to go forward and the impression that the convention is taking a backward step in its total goals without foundation in fact."

Aliens and Negroes Chosen As Issue of Reapportionment

Southerners Seek to Bar Gains in California, Michigan, Texas, New York and New Jersey.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Aliens and negroes have been chosen as the issues of the forthcoming dispute in congress over reapportionment of house representation.

Representatives of agricultural states, losers under the figures made public yesterday by President Hoover, said today they would seek to exclude aliens from the reapportionment count to prevent big gains in California, Michigan, Texas, New York and New Jersey.

Efforts to block this attempt are to be made by representatives of industrial states with a move to reduce representation in southern states in proportion to the disfranchisement of the negro they charged existed there.

It was these issues that almost brought defeat to the existing reapportionment act in June, 1925. They were injected into the measure by amendments adopted in the house.

House leaders finally agreed to wipe out both amendments and the bill then was passed.

Representative Dickson, republican, and senator-elect from Iowa, a leader of the anti-alien bloc that joined with the democrats to exclude the aliens in the 1925 contest, said he would renew his efforts at the short term.

From Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, ranking minority member on the house census committee, came the declaration that "the outstanding evil" in the reapportionment plan lays in the fact that there are included in this census more than 7,500,000 aliens, who are not American citizens.

yet representation is being taken away from our American citizens in old settled states, such as Virginia, Mississippi, Kansas, Iowa and Minnesota, and given to these foreigners... who owe their allegiance to a foreign country."

An investigation, he said, should be made of the census of California, to which nine additional seats were awarded under the Hoover figures. He said there were thousands of Mexican and oriental aliens in that state.

"If an attempt is made to exclude the aliens," Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, said, "I stand ready to fight for the enforcement of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution, and will propose reduction in representation in proportion to disfranchisement of the negro in the south."

It was Tinkham's amendment to the reapportionment measure that met the alien proposal before and led to both of the amendments being expunged from the census bill.

Before it was stricken from the bill it caused much concern among the southern delegations. At the time Representative Tilton, of Connecticut, the republican floor leader, said: "This must not happen. It would cause a near revolution."

Chairman Felt of the house census committee, said he would stand by the present act which goes into effect March 4 unless the present congress enacts new legislation. But he was told by Rankin that:

"We are going to make a fight to pass a reapportionment bill at this session of congress that will do justice to all concerned. If we are blocked in that attempt, we shall continue our efforts at the extra session—or at the next regular session."

William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, said if the act is not changed the electoral college would be redistributed according to the new apportionment in the states for the 1932 presidential election. The act makes the reapportionment effective for the seventy-second congress which is elected then.

Beyond a doubt the most popular relish served with the Thanksgiving turkey is cranberry sauce

WHAT would Thanksgiving be without desserts, jellies, preserves and cranberry sauce? And how could these delicacies be made if it were not for refined sugar?

Americans are truly fortunate to have a feast day like Thanksgiving—also to be able to enjoy the goodness of refined sugar at such an unusually low price as it is today.

Winter diets demand fuel food and a zestful variety of dishes. There is no single food product that can fill these needs better than refined sugar. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with refined sugar. The Sugar Institute.

BOB SURRENDERS TO FACE CHARGES

Financier Pleads Not Guilty to Larceny. Makes $35,000 Bond.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—

Charles V. Bob, mining engineer, friend of aviation and stock promoter, emerged today from six weeks of hiding to plead not guilty to three indictments charging larceny of $97,000 in alleged fraudulent stock sales.

Allegations of irregularity in the affairs of several companies headed by Bob caused him no evident discomfort. He walked blithely into District Attorney Clegg's office with his attorney this noon, nodded to acquaintances and laughed merrily over a joke somebody made.

Neg did he lose any of his aplomb later as he was taken to police headquarters, where the whores on his fingers that signed a large check to aid the Byrd expedition to the south pole were added to the roster of fingerprints.

General Sessions Judge Allen released Bob in $35,000 bail and permitted his counsel three weeks to present motions.

Two of three others indicted with Bob yesterday surrendered and were arraigned with him. The identity of the fourth person was withheld by District Attorney Clegg.

The two arraigned today were Bob's younger brother, Beverly, charged with larceny of $30,000 and Louis P. Jubien, a business associate, charged with larceny of $20,000. Beverly Bob was freed in $5,000 bail and Jubien in $2,500 after the younger Bob had pleaded not guilty and Jubien had been given a week to enter a plea.

Former District Attorney Banton, counsel for the Bob brothers, said "Mr. Bob and his brother will assist the authorities in any way possible to untangle their business affairs and will assist also in the criminal situation."

Bob's associates said the promoter had been in New York since last Saturday, although his previous whereabouts had been kept secret even from his wife, who sold the contents of their Fifth avenue home last week to raise money.

Bob dropped from sight October 8 after a flight in one of his private planes to Chicago.

After his disappearance Assistant Attorney-General Washburn announced an investigation of Metal & Mining Shares, Inc., the principal Bob company under scrutiny, showed the company had lost an estimated $6,000,000 which had been paid in by more than 5,000 small investors.

ABUSE OF INFLUENCE CHARGED TO ANDERSON

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 19.—(AP)—

A house investigating committee abandoned secret sessions here today and received public testimony that Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson, of west Tennessee, attempted to trade his official influence for profit in a business deal and paid personal servants with government funds.

The committee came here after one of its members, Representative La Guardia, of New York, received anonymously presented charges against Judge Anderson and the house authorized an investigation.

Bart Tully, Memphis lumberman, testified here and at a judiciary committee hearing in Washington last week that a Mann act charge against him was instituted, prosecuted and dropped in 1926, just before his family purchased the stock of Judge Anderson's family in the Anderson-Tully Lumber Company, a big firm here.

La Guardia was committee prosecutor and interrogator of witnesses. He introduced bank credit sheets which he said will prove Judge Anderson had a personal interest in the stock sale and received at least $23,995.17 for a block of the shares purchased by the Tully interests.

A bank clerk testified the credit sheets bore the names of Judge Anderson and Nugent Dodds, now special assistant to the United States attorney-general and in 1926 acting district attorney here. Louisiana told the committee the sheets showed $23,495.17 was withdrawn from Dodds' account in a bank here and deposited to the account of Judge Anderson on the same day in January of 1927. He said Dodds will be called later.

Two negroes, James Banks and Bob Mason, testified they were on the district court payroll while working in Judge Anderson's household.

Chairman Hickey, of the committee asked Banks:

"During the time you were on the government payroll did you perform any service at the federal building?"

"No, sir," Banks replied.

Banks and Mason identified photographic copies of checks as drawn to them by the government and indorsed by someone else.

Charles M. Bryan, Judge Anderson's attorney, attempted to show on cross-examination that Banks had borrowed money frequently from Judge Anderson and that the negroes' statement that part of his salary was withheld was untrue.

The committee met this evening to select witnesses for tomorrow's session, the third of the investigation.

ONE-YEAR NAVAL PROGRAM OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A tentative one-year naval building program, which experts said would cost about $100,000,000, was outlined today by Chairman Britten, of the house naval committee, as having been suggested from recommendations made by the naval general board.

The recommendations soon will be presented to President Hoover for approval and preparation for congress.

Britten outlined the program after a conference with Secretary Adams. He said he expected the secretary to submit the program to President Hoover within the week. Specific figures and tonnages will not be announced until President Hoover has studied the program.

Study Course Program Given Yesterday.

In the second of the study course programs of the Atlanta Music Club, given yesterday in Wesley Memorial auditorium, Mrs. Grace Lee Townsend, chairman, presented an interesting and educational program on "Hymnology," assisted in her discussion on the subject by illustrations in part analysis and harmonic structure by a string quartet with Miss Santa Mueller playing first violin; Miss Mary Douglas, second violin; Houghton McCormick, viola; Mrs. Priscilla Warren Loomer, cello. Mrs. McCormick is a product of the Atlanta Junior Music Club. Their inspirational rendition of standard hymns, bringing out the four parts in beautiful ensemble, awakened deeper appreciation of hymns. A singing ensemble composed of Miss Frances Woodberry, Mesdames James C. Richardson, Helen T. Conyers, John Sizoo, A. C. Drabble, L. D. Scott, Leslie Hubbard, A. B. Woodall, John Pitts, James C. Richardson, illustrated hymns that inspire religious fervor.

William E. Arnold traced in interesting manner the development of hymn writing from 1500 B. C. to the time of Moses, through the songs of David, Pope Gregory and his influence, Martin Luther, down to our own Georgia, represented by Charles Wesley, who was the composer of 6,000 hymns. The audience joined to make a great ensemble with the organ, string quartet and piano, in singing famous hymns. The closing number was "My Soul Be On Thy Guard," in which two trumpets from Emory University, James Carmichael and Gilbert Sanford, joined to lend the voices of their instruments in a soul-stirring climax to a program of study in that phase of religious worship which perhaps reaches the heart first.

Miss Louise Butler Is Honor Guest.

O'Rourke, Mrs. Norvill Smith and Mrs. R. W. Bass.

Dickerson, chairman of the campaign. Music will be furnished by the well known Georgia Aces and Miss Mildred Arnold's Children's Minstrel show will entertain during intermission. Tickets will be 50 cents, and all proceeds will be devoted to the Grady sunroom for children. Those in the above group include: Mildred Bone, Betty Scott, Doris Lambert, Billie Burke, Douglas Hamilton, Baby Nicholas, Patrizious Jacobs and Aubrey Jackson. Staff photo by Troy Bennett.

Pi Omicrons Plan Program This Evening.

Alpha chapter of Pi Omicron sorority holds a meeting in the Popular Coffee shop this evening at 6:30 o'clock, the topic of discussion being "China." This program was planned for November 6, but postponed because of the address made by Arthur Allen, describing conditions in present-day China.

Miss Mary Allen will tell the extent of China and describe the various peoples who make up this great nation. Present-day celebrities, such as Sun Yat Sen and his wife, Princess Der Ling and General Chiang Kai-Shek will be described by Mrs. Ella B. Ray, Miss Bertie Robinson and Mrs. Fannie Mae Weston.

Others appearing on the program will be Misses Ruth Danbury, Marie Anne McCall, Bertie Robinson, Peggy Osborne, Martha Steele and Mrs. Ella B. Ray. Georgia Mother Solves Problem

MY little daughter, Betty, caused me many anxious moments," says Mrs. L. L. Atlanta, 628 Glenwood Ave., N. E. Atlanta. "She was quite bilious, didn't want to play and had very little appetite."

"She suffered a lot from colds until I thought about California Fig Syrup and decided to give her some. Fig Syrup helped Betty remarkably. She is strong; able to avoid colds; has a good appetite and digestion; is quite the picture of health as you can see."

For over 50 years, California Fig Syrup has been helping bilious, headachy, weak, constipated babies and children. Doctors by thousands recommend this pure vegetable product. Children love its flavor. It acts gently to open the bowels in colds or children's diseases. It cleanses a child's system harmlessly and in a hurry. Bowels become regular with its use and remain so, because they are toned and strengthened by this wonderful combination of pure fig syrup and extract of senna.

JACKETS PRACTICE; BULLDOGS TOE MARK

AWAY THEY GO today into the fields behind panting, circling dogs—waiting for the keen-nosed guides to freeze on point—then bang away as the quail zoom up like puffs of brown leaves. The season in Georgia opens today for quail and doves. Above are pictures made late in the 1929 season by J. T. Holloway, Constitution staff photographer, near Rochelle, Ga., and saved for the opening day this year. At the left is re-

with the small sons of Walter Brown and Mr. Pierce, in a typical scene that no doubt they will re-enact to-day down in flat lands near their south Georgia home. Today is THE day for Georgia hunters.

SPEED HOP SET FOR ALEXANDER

Jacket Coach To Cross Continent Twice in Five Days.

Atlanta railroad officials yesterday completed an itinerary of combination of air-rail transportation that will carry W. A. Alexander, head football coach at Georgia Tech, from Atlanta to Los Angeles in 33 hours and 40 minutes.

Coch Alexander will leave Atlanta on the morning of Sunday, December 2, at 8 o'clock by airplane for Dallas, Texas. He will arrive there that night and board a Pullman for Amarillo, Texas, arriving Monday morning. He will take a second airplane from Amarillo at 8 o'clock and arrive in Los Angeles at 3:40 p. m. the same day.

This trip, which will set a new record in transcontinental air-rail travel, is being arranged so that Coach Alexander can handle his team through the Tech-Georgia game here December 6, then be in Los Angeles Monday night for a meeting with Knute Rockne, coach of Notre Dame; Pop Warner, coach of Stanford; and Tad Jones, former Yale coach. They will collaborate on selecting an All-American football team for a feature syndicate.

Railroad officials here say that Coach Alexander's "flying" trip will mark the fastest time in history for carrying a passenger from Atlanta to Los Angeles. It is faster by several hours than the straight air route, which entails an all-night stop at Dallas.

Coch Alexander will leave Los Angeles Tuesday morning, December 9, and by the same succession of air and rail, arrive in Atlanta Wednesday afternoon in time to catch a train for Chapel Hill, N. C., where he will attend a meeting of the Southern football coaches and officials. Thus he will have completed a round trip from Atlanta to Los Angeles in four days and be in Chapel Hill on the morning of the fifth. That adds to the record.

Strib Beats Gorsline By Technical Kayo

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 19. (AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, of Macon, Ga., heavyweight, knocked out whitey Gorsline, of Brown City, Mich., in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout here tonight.

Stribling apparently had his opponent terror-stricken from the start. Gorsline was banished from the ring after he had been knocked down twice in the third round without striking a blow in return, and Stribling was awarded a technical knockout. Stribling weighed 187 1/2, Gorsline 178 1/2.

Oglethorpe Grooms Attack for Mercer

Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels worked on the offensive in a scrimmage against the freshmen Wednesday afternoon and hammered out but two touchdowns as the total result of a long, hard drill. The yearlings, on the other hand, scored their second touchdown of the season against the first-string when Jack Harrison, hard-running fullback, intercepted a pass and raced 60 yards up the sidelines.

The "timber" team were running without a great deal of power, speed or drive behind their strong line, and many holes opened in the yearling forewell closed before the backs reached the line of scrimmage.

The ability running of Ray Walker, despite a bum ankle; the powerful line-plugging of George Gillard, who scored both touchdowns; the stellar receiving of passes and end-running of Sam Baker and the coherent click-

Hunters Are Prepared For Opening of Season

Gunners Marshal Dogs in Fields as Ban Is Lifted This Morning.

By Ralph McGill.

Mountains and valleys of north Georgia, where the painted leaves are thinning, and the graying sage grasses in the flats of the south will hear the rumble of guns and the whirr of wings today as the state hunting season opens.

Atlanta saw the exodus begin Tuesday and Wednesday. Hunters recalled the winds of dawn and the suns of a year ago. Old boots, newly oiled; stained coats and other hunting regalia appeared on the streets as early as Tuesday as staid businessmen moved out by automobile and train.

Hundreds of others, chained by jobs, went to bed Wednesday night with alarm clocks set for unearthly awakening hours. The early bird won't get the worm today. He'll get his from some 12 or 20-gauge gun as the early hunters start with the first graying in the east.

Hunting dogs peered out through windows of cars Wednesday on down-town streets as owners brought them in home for the early start.

Hunting may be just an atavistic urge or a primitive killing spree, as some of its opponents insist, but the hunters know differently. There is something else in it for most of them.

There is never a hunt but that the sunrise is prettier than the one before. There is never a morning when the hunter does not find something in watching the earth come to life with the dawn.

ELIGIBLE TARGETS. The season opens today for quail, plovers (golden and blackbellied plovers excepted), wild turkeys and cat squirrels, for squirrels, grouse and pheasants. The deer season and the duck season have been on since November 1.

While there are those who hunt only deer and others who think the elusive wild turkey the only game worth hunting, it is the quail that brings out the most guns.

There is a thrill in the baying of hounds running a deer, but that hunting involves long waits at a deer stand. There is excitement and adventure in stalking wild turkeys.

FINEST PUNCH. But the quail, with some good working dogs after him, packs the finest punch of all. There is no finer sight anywhere than that afforded by a brace of pointers or setters working out a field, holding the birds on a frozen point, retrieving and then working out the singles. It is a moving panorama of beauty and symphonic action.

Artists and camera men have sought to put down the figure of a dog at point but all of them lack something. It may be the wind or the smell of the earth or the quiver of the leaves.

There is something else in this hunting other than the atavistic urge left over from the days when man had to go out and kill that he might eat.

ROCKNE RATES DIXIE ELEVENS

Alabama, Tulane Best; Praises Southern Stars in Radio Talk.

Atlantans listened with keen interest last night as Knute Rockne, Notre Dame head football coach, was interviewed by Grantland Rice over the radio in regard to the national football situation.

In response to Rice's questions, Coach Rockne gave his idea of the outstanding players and teams in various sections. He considered Alabama and Tulane the best southern teams. Among the best southern players he named were Dodd and Hackman, Tennessee; Vernon Smith and Robert, Georgia; Sington, Alabama; Roberts, Tulane; Chapman, S. M. U.; Wilson, Baylor.

Rockne considers the 1929 Notre Dame team as the best he ever coached. He said he could form no estimate of the present eleven until the season was over; there were three hard games ahead, with Northwestern, the Army and Southern California, and they might lose all three of them.

THE BEST PLAY. He considered Southern California the hardest test of all, because it comes at the end of the string of hard games, and his team will be feeling the strain of a long campaign and a long trip to the coast. He added that after the season was over he might be forced to change his mind about calling the 1929 team the best.

Rockne was asked what was the best play he had seen this year. He replied:

"The reverse spinner play on which Schwartz ran against Pitt. On that play every man on the team did his assignment perfectly, a spectacle rarely afforded in football."

As to his opinion of whether the Bears Scrimmage Without Sperry

MACON, Ga., Nov. 19. (AP)—With Bob Sperry, crack guard, confined to his bed with illness, the Mercer Bears scrimmaged today for the game with Oglethorpe Saturday. It is regarded as uncertain whether Sperry will be able to start against the Petrels in Mercer's annual home-coming game.

Outside of Sperry and Hollingsworth, halfback, the Bear squad is in good shape.

Here one reads: "Winner of Alabama-Georgia Game Will Be Invited to the Rose Bowl" to play Washington State. There one reads: "Alabama or Northwestern Certain for Rose Bowl Game."

It is the open season now for birds and bids. Armed with a shotgun, a pointer, eleven men and a football you can hunt clear across the continent.

It is an obscure football team, indeed that will not be invited to play in the Rose Bowl.

Which leaves Tulane holding the undisputed championship of the state of Georgia by virtue of victories over Georgia Tech and Georgia and asking for a bid, too. Can you tie that one? Asking!

Now just watch; within the week Charley Paddock will invite St. Olaf or Heidelberg to play. Both these teams are undefeated. Charley invited the University of Detroit a year or so ago. He is one busy little fellow about this time of year.

FLORIDA REASONABLY CERTAIN.

A dispatch from Florida's press bureau says: "Backers of the Florida 'Gators'... feel reasonably certain of victory in the Thanksgiving Day game in Atlanta with Georgia Tech."

That "reasonably certain" is the calmest pre-battle statement that ever came out of Florida on the eve of a game with Georgia Tech.

And this time Florida well might feel just that way. It all goes to prove something.

"THE END OF AN ERA."

"It is the end of an era in golf."

No finer line appeared in all the sincere eulogiums written about Bobby Jones' retirement from major tournament golf than that put into his story for the Associated Press by Frank H. King, London correspondent.

"It is the end of an era in golf."

Rarely is an era in any phase of human history recognized so quickly. Seti I, Hammurabi, Xerxes, Charlemagne, Elizabeth, Napoleon, Victoria long had passed from the stage before it was realized they had marked a definite era in progress.

In the more restricted, more modest field of golf, Bobby's retirement instantly was sensed by the correspondent. I think the comparison above can be made without seeming ridiculous, too.

THE OLD FUMBLE PLAY.

Alabama football players of the 1927 team can grin at the misfortunes of Georgia and Oglethorpe in having a snap for a pass or punt turned into a touchdown.

In the Alabama-Tech game of that year the two clubs were battling neck and neck. Warner Mizell was back to punt. He fumbled the snap from center, picked it up, crossed his field and ran 75 yards for a touchdown that decided the game.

Zimmerman, of Tulane, went back to pass, was rushed so fast he could not throw it, whirled and raced 26 yards for a touchdown on Georgia. The Villanova punter fumbled a snap exactly as Mizell did that time, picked it up and raced over half the length of the field for a touchdown on Oglethorpe.

Passers are rushed on 100 plays and either downed for a loss or forced to throw wildly. Punters fumble snaps and fall on it for losses 100 times.

The next time the 100-to-1 chance develops; the back man whirls, allows the charging enemy to overrun him and goes

Jackets Work Hard; Bulldogs Set To Start

Light Drill Slated Today. Georgia Squad in Good Shape.

By Al Smith.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—With four days of idleness behind them, the Georgia Bulldogs are preparing to unlimber their heavy artillery tomorrow afternoon for the first time since they returned from the Tulane disaster in New Orleans.

After tomorrow the Bulldogs won't get any sort of rest until they have played Alabama Thanksgiving Day and Georgia Tech on December 6. The boys won't get a very heavy workout this time, for they need only to loosen their muscles up before beginning heavy drills for the Crimson Tide.

Along about Friday when the boys will really get some work.

The red devil freshman team has been practicing the plays used by the Tide in sweeping everything in its path, and the youngsters will be ready to put them on against the Bulldogs whenever Coach Harry Mehre gives the word, which will probably be Friday or Saturday.

No injuries that will necessarily keep the boys from the game with the Tide have sprung up in camp during the four days the Bulldogs have been idle. Red Leathers is still nursing the bad knee that kept him from the Tulane game, but is expected to be in A-1 condition for the Thanksgiving Day tilt in Birmingham.

ROSE RESTS UP.

Bobby Rose, who has played most of the time in every Georgia game so far and who was slightly injured last Saturday, is resting up in the university infirmary. He is expected, however, to take part in the preparations for the Alabama game.

And oh, yes, Herb Maffett still has trouble seeing with his left eye, due to the four stitches taken in the Georgia captain's forehead after the Tulane game.

The Bulldogs will have just six days to prepare for Alabama, for next Wednesday they depart for Birmingham and the battle with the thus far victorious Tide.

EDGE IN WINS. Georgia holds the edge over the boys from the University of Alabama in games won during the past three years. In 1927, the year of the wonder team, Georgia beat Alabama quite decisively. Alabama came back gallantly in 1928 and beat Georgia just as conclusively. Last year it was the Red and Black's turn again, and Mehre's boys whitewashed Alabama, 12-0.

If this keeps up it will be the turn of the Alabamians to annex the game that will be played Thanksgiving in Birmingham, but the Georgia Bulldogs don't think so.

Thanksgiving will mark the last time Georgia and Alabama will meet on the football field until the two universities have provided for changes in schedule.

In addition to that it will be the next to last, not the last, game that Wallace Wade will direct for Alabama.

And certainly it will be the last time that Frank Thomas will sit on the Georgia bench and watch the Bulldogs and the Tide connect. Hereafter Frank, Georgia's present backfield coach who goes to Alabama as head coach January 1, will sit on the bench with the Tide-men.

STAR INELIGIBLE.

SALISBURY, N. C., Nov. 19. (AP) George Zaengle, Catawba College halfback and star of an undefeated team, today was found ineligible by the college's eligibility committee. Members of the committee said they found Zaengle had played two seasons with the State Normal School, Weathers-

Goldsmith Joins Colvin On Crippled List At Tech Flats.

By Ralph McGill.

Just as the courier rode up at Tech Flats Wednesday afternoon with the word that Sam Colvin, injured Tuesday, would be released from the hospital Thursday, he was met by Jerry Goldsmith, first reserve end, coming off the field with a badly dislocated thumb.

It was a rather severe dislocation and Goldsmith will be out of practice for a few days. It is likely that he and Sam Colvin will return to work on next Monday. Physicians have set that date as the earliest time Colvin may resume practice with the squad.

The Jackets are still rather flat. They went through an hour of defensive scrimmage Wednesday afternoon in which the line-up was shifted often. The scrubs could get nowhere with the ball, but the defensive work was largely individual.

Frank Speer's charging seemed to be improving. The big fellow turned loose several charges which were the best he has shown this year. He is quite likely to turn up with great performances against Florida and Georgia and round out his career with a fine showing.

BACKFIELD SHIFTS.

The first team, which started with Jones and Herron at ends, Marce and Speer at tackles, Brooks and Earl at guards and Farmer at center, had a varied backfield. Captain Earl Dunlap did not scrimmage.

Coaches plan to use Dunlap this afternoon. His knee, hurt at Carnegie Tech in the second game of the year and hurt again in the North Carolina game, is well. Coaches have been fearful of taking a chance in view of Colvin's injury, but will risk it today. Dunlap needs work after a period of inactivity.

Coaches are not alarmed at the slowness of the team. They did not drive the squad Wednesday, being confident that the rebound will arrive today or tomorrow. The scrubs are busy with Florida plays and they will be thrown at the team in full force today and Friday.

The Florida game is a week away from today. Coach Alexander has time to figure out what his backfield combination will be. He is sure to put Dunlap in there at one of the halfbacks.

The starting lineup is likely to be Dunlap and Barron at the halfback posts, Cain at fullback and McArthur at quarter.

That combination, with Jap Hart held in reserve, should be the strongest the Jackets have started this fall.

If no more injuries appear the team will go into the Florida game in splendid shape to give the 'Gators a battle.

SOUTHERN STARS MAY MEET EAST

Stumpy Thomason Seeking Team of Seniors for Charity Game.

Organization of a team of senior Southern conference football players to participate in a game against a similar all-eastern team in New York on a day in Christmas week for charity has been undertaken by Stumpy Thomason, former Tech halfback.

Thomason, now a backfield star on the Brooklyn Dodgers, a professional team in the National league, has been asked to act in the capacity of coach for this team by a committee from the Knights of Columbus interested in enlarging the fund for the unemployed.

McBride, former Syracuse star and captain of the Brooklyn professional eleven, has been asked to assemble and coach the all-eastern stars.

Thomason in a communication to The Constitution states he is taking steps to secure permission of the Southern conference for senior players to participate. He is making up a list of eligibles and will forward invitations later if nothing intervenes to interfere with plans for the game now being pressed in New York.

Tentative plans provide that the players will have to miss any time from school work. All expenses will be paid and entertainment provided in New York by K. of C. committees.

The number of seniors now playing on teams in the Southern conference is large and a team fairly representing this section could be assembled for the game. The east-south all-star game is one of a number of charity games planned in New York this winter.

Bulldog Stars Asked To Play In Charity Tilt

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19. (AP)—H. J. Stegeman, University of Georgia director of athletics, announced today Captain Herbert Maffett, end, and Jack Roberts, back, had been invited to play on an all-star football team in a charity game in Los Angeles Christmas Day.

Stegeman said it was proposed the all-star team meet a team of former Notre Dame players.

The director said Roberts, star fullback, and one of the nation's high scorers, would not be eligible for the game under Southern conference rules as he had another year at Georgia, but Maffett is a senior and may play if he wishes.

He said Maffett had not decided if he would accept the invitation.

Tide, Bulldogs, Wildcats In Line for Bowl Game

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 19. (AP)—Speculation as to the opponent Washington State College will invite here for the annual Tournament of Roses football classic New Year's, followed yesterday's announcement that the 1930 Pacific Coast conference champions had been chosen to defend the honors of the far west.

Although no selection of an eastern or southern opponent is expected until after Thanksgiving, it generally is understood Northwestern, Alabama or Georgia will receive the bid, depending on how they come through their pending gridiron clashes.

ing of the line were the only bright spots in an otherwise drab afternoon. The scrimmage ended as the varsity shot an incomplete pass over the goal line in an attempt to score again. It was practically established that Dapper Meyers will not play against Mercer at Macon Saturday. Meyers' foot is still troubling him and he cannot put his full weight upon it. He was out in uniform and ran with the varsity in signal practice, but when the contact work began Meyers was not used. Lefty Sybert is not only

VANDY PASSES BAFFLE TIGERS IN SCRIMMAGE

With Coach Kiley in Backfield, Freshmen Play Varsity To Tie.

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 19.—Auburn failed to show up very well against Vanderbilt plays, as put on by the freshmen, in the first scrimmage staged on Drake field in over two weeks. It was the first time that a fair afternoon had greeted the Tigers when they arrived on the practice field in over a week and Coach Wynne immediately took advantage of the weather by holding practice until dark. The mock battle with the fresh ended in a 7-7 deadlock, because the Tigers still showed signs of the game that they played last week in Birmingham. However, it is believed that the boys will play better football in Nashville Saturday against the Commodores.

The first score was annexed when Jimmie Hitchcock reeled off a 25-yard run and on the next play Brown received a pass over the goal line. Hitchcock made the extra point for placement. This seven-point lead was of short duration, because the Cubs also counted in a few minutes. Coach Kiley played a few minutes in the rain's backyard and showed the Plainsmen a few of Vandy's passes. They worked as if the Commodores were putting them on. Kiley shot a long one to Head that netted 33 yards and then hurried one to David Atrial that was caught by the former Birmingham prep school star on the goal line. The yearlings knotted the count by place-kicking for the extra point. This brought the rough work to a close, because Wynne was certain that the Bengals had seen enough of Vandy's passes to make them realize that they will have to be at their best if they make a good showing in Dudley stadium Saturday.

The varsity lineup against the Cubs was: Grant and Senn, ends; Arthur and Miller, tackles; Bart and Jones, guards; Johnson, center; Davidson, quarterback; Hatfield and Hitchcock, halfbacks, and Brown, fullback. This is probably the eleven that will start against Vandy.

Dean Team Wins Druid Hills Dinner

H. P. McDonald's sensational mashie niblick shot, which stopped inches from the cup and enabled F. O. Stone to sink an easy putt for a two-point win, was the margin of F. S. Dean's team's victory over Jim Williams' "gang" Wednesday afternoon in the "losers pay" dinner tournament on the Druid Hills course.

Members of Dean's team were guests at a 6:30 o'clock barbeque dinner Wednesday night at the clubhouse as result of their spectacular golf victory late in the afternoon.

Claude McGinnis and Merrell Williams, of the Williams team, needed only a half on the 18th hole to give their side a victory and it appeared that they would score an easy win until McDonald pulled his spectacular mashie niblick shot and Stone dropped the short putt for three points and a victory.

Harry Stephens, club professional, was in charge of the affair and arranged the handicaps for the players.

acing away toward the goal line with nobody within tackling range.

ANOTHER LONG SHOT.

The Yellow Jackets last Saturday experienced a variation of this play on which no misplay occurred. A Penn punter, fourth down, 12 yards to go, was swamped by a charging Tech line. He would have had his punt blocked. So he lit out to his left into a clear field and carried the ball so far that Penn's last touchdown was made easy.

All such plays bespeak quick thinking, courage and speed on the part of the individual. They help make football the grand game it is.

THIS ONE IS EASY.

Here is a mooted wager illustrating the wonderful advantage of listening to football games detailed over radio that must be settled:

"Will you please decide the following wager: While listening over the radio to the details of the Florida-Alabama game an announcement is made that the score of the Tech-Vandy game at the end of the half is: Tech, 7; Vandy, 0. A little later, without specific reference to that announcement, A wagers 5 to 2 that Tech will win and B accepts. The final score, of course, is: Vandy, 6; Tech, 0. What should be done about the wager?—D. M. B., Birmingham, Ala."

The radio announcer in this case is entirely at fault and will be glad to refund the amount you lost through his mistake. Radio announcers are paid large sums of money every week to broadcast correct information; do not feel backward about asking.

CHEST DRIVE NEEDS TEAM PLAY.

A football player who refuses to run interference for a teammate is a poor sport. In no time he is dropped off the club. In football self-sacrifice and co-operation is demanded. So in any worthy enterprise and especially in the Community Chest drive. The whole endeavor is a sporting proposition.

Are you doing your part in making the play go or are you letting the ball carrier go it alone?

If you have not contributed you are letting the other man carry the load.

A contribution takes out an obstacle and makes the drive go farther, just as an interferer takes out an opposing tackler and makes the football play go farther. Even a dollar will be a useful bit of blocking to help the drive.

EMORY JUNIORS DEFEAT SENIORS

The Junior football team at Emory University came from behind Wednesday to beat the Seniors, 14 to 11, and thereby won the right to play the Freshmen next Wednesday for the Emory championship.

The regular schedule ended with the Juniors and Freshmen each having won four games and lost two. It was an intercepted pass resulting in a touchdown, a whirlwind last-quarter drive on the part of the four red-clad backs and a fighting line which held the Seniors on the four-yard line with five minutes to play, that won the game.

Soon after the opening of the game Roy Sellers, big Senior fullback, blocked a Junior punt and Virlyn Moore, tackle, recovered for a touchdown. The extra point failed. Each team having made one earned first down, the score was then 7 to 1, according to the Emory scoring system. In the second quarter the Juniors got their break. Max Hall, star Junior halfback, intercepted a pass near midfield on the dead run and crossed the goal without being touched. A pass, Driskell to Hogg, made the extra point good. The score at the half was 10 to 8 in favor of the Juniors.

In the final period the Seniors, with Sellers and Pilcher doing most of the work, brought the ball to the shadow of the Junior goal, but were held for four downs, and Driskell punted out of danger. Needing but one earned first down to tie the game, the Seniors scrambled on the second play and the Juniors ran off two first downs in rapid succession before the game ended.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 19.—"It won't make any difference to us," said Harry Mehre, head coach of the Georgia Bulldogs, when interviewed tonight regarding the reports that the winner of the Alabama-Georgia game Thanksgiving would be invited to play Washington State in the Rose Bowl.

"We are going to try to win the Alabama game next Thursday, whether we go to the Rose Bowl or not," Coach Mehre continued. "We will have a very tough time beating Alabama. We're not admitting the game's lost yet."

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 19.—(P) Although reported as the possible eastern representative in the Rose Bowl contest New Year's day, the Crimson Tide of Alabama is not thinking beyond the Georgia game in Birmingham Thanksgiving Day, Coach Wade is stressing nothing but the necessity of beating Georgia and all practice sessions this week are being aimed at the Bulldogs. The Tiders began strenuous workouts today for the Turkey Day battle.

COAST HAS FINE YOUNG PLAYERS COMING ALONG

Voigt and Willing Seem Ablest Among Older Stars Now Left.

By Frank Getty, United Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(U)—The retirement of Bobby Jones leaves the ranks of amateur golf sadly depleted, for it comes just at a time when the old order is changing, yielding place to new.

Many of the famous amateurs who were driven from the spotlight during the Jones dynasty already were withdrawing from competition, and the youngsters who are coming along to fill their places are not quite ripe for top-flight championship play.

Of the ranking amateurs in the United States, named by the United States Golf Association in seeding the draw for the 1930 championship, three have retired and lost their amateur standing and three others are finding the pressure of business too great to permit constant tournament competition.

Together with Jones, George Von Elm and Johnny Goodman have surrendered their amateur status. Francis Ouimet, former open and amateur titleholder, who once fell under the U. S. G. A. ban himself, is seriously occupied with his stock exchange job in Boston, as is Jess Sweetser, another ex-champion, in New York city. Sweetser, incidentally, is making $100,000 a year from his business.

GAME WEAKER. Jimmy Johnston, a third ex-amateur titlist, is busy in the grain brokerage trade and his golf has fallen off as a result.

While a number of other ex-champions showed up at Merion for the amateur championship, it was evident from their play that they are not taking their golf too seriously these days.

This leaves only George Voigt, the New Yorker whose own amateur status has been under fire from time to time, and "Doc" Willing, of Portland, among the seeded players of the 1930 championship available for the next contest for the title at the Beverly Country Club next fall. It is probable that these two are now the outstanding contenders for the throne vacated by King Robert.

A number of youngsters are coming along. There is Don Moo, of Portland, whom Jones named as the future champion; Charley Seaver, the confident and scrappy youngster from Los Angeles; W. Lawson Little, of San Francisco; Frank Delp and Gibson Dunlap, also from the far coast.

It would seem, in fact, as though the retirement of the Atlantan might toss amateur golf supremacy of the next few years right into the lap of the Pacific, with able contenders from one end of the west coast to the other.

WILL GUNN GOOD. Newcomers in the east who showed up well are Charley Kocsis, of Detroit; Gene Homans, of Englewood, N. J.; Will Gunn, of Philadelphia; and Maurice McGinnis, of Flushing, N. Y. But none of these is a potential champion, even in what will be the most open of competition for the crown.

It will be interesting to see the effect of Jones' retirement upon the gate receipts. The U. S. G. A., which takes half the profits from the amateur championship, netted more than $27,000 when Bobby played through the week and won at Merion last September. The year before, with the Atlantan out in the very first round, the association's take was only $12,000, the bare guarantee provided by the fruit canning and real estate development company which promoted the affair.

With Jones' presence on the links a tremendous factor in drawing the cash customers to golf championships, the U. S. G. A. has salted away some $100,000 lately. From a sporting point of view, the tournament for the title at Chicago next September will be enhanced by the opportunity afforded the field with Bobby absent.

What the reaction will be upon the cash register remains to be seen.

Executive Body Considers Post.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(P)—Bobby Jones' retirement has brought up the question of his eligibility to continue to sit in the councils of the United States Golf Association as a member of the executive committee.

Informally at least, Herbert H. Ramsay, president-elect of the association, has taken the position that there is no reason why Jones' withdrawal from competition should persuade him to resign from the committee.

gia are that the birds are plentiful this season. Conservation of game and the intelligent work of the state game and fish commission, under the able direction of Commissioner Peter S. Twitty, has kept Georgia's hunters from facing a poor season.

There are several large hunting sections which open this year after three years of protection, during which time Mexican quail have been permitted to breed. The success of that restocking measure is already proved.

The birds seem to have pulled through the dry season in fine shape. The rain and heat which came in the last three weeks of the 1929 season also aided the birds. The heat drove them to the woods and the birds were small in the last few weeks of hunting.

"BREAK" SEEN.

Indications Wednesday were that the birds would get a break Thursday as the weather was warm and rain imminent. Late in the afternoon a brisk wind came up with a slight chill in it. If the rain holds off the first day's hunting should be good.

From Commissioner Twitty's office came a request that hunters be not over-eager and kill more than the limit allowed by law. The limit on quail is 20 in one day.

Hunters who are without dogs may pick up bargains by inquiry at the commissioner's office. Commissioner Twitty is offering a unique service. Hunting dogs are offered for sale through his office.

CLEARING HOUSE.

The office does not guarantee the dogs but merely serves as a clearing house for those who have dogs for sale.

Duck hunters are reporting good success. From Thomasville, which is just 10 miles from the Florida line, comes word that duck hunters are having fine sport on the three big lakes there, Miccosukee, Iamonia and Jackson. The lakes are carrying just the right volume of water to induce the ducks to feed.

The birds, however, are the big attraction. And what a rude reception the early bird is going to get today.

INSPIRED NAME.

Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame's star back, got his first name from a race horse. His family lived in New Orleans and his father won some money on a horse by that name.

Crack Linemen Numerous in Conference Ranks This Season

SINGTON AGAIN RATED AS BEST TACKLE OF YEAR

Roberts, of Tulane, and Smith, of Georgia, Repeat Fine Work.

By The Associated Press.

Crack ends seem to run in pairs.

Tulane has Dalmonte and Holland, Georgia lists Moffett and Smith, Vanderbilt boasts Schwartz and Scheffer. Ranking alongside these are Roski, Duke; Gressette, South Carolina; Moore, Alabama; Jones, Georgia Tech; and Nolan, Florida.

Most observers point to Freddie Sington, of Alabama, as the class of southern tackles. Close behind come Waters, Florida; Moore, Georgia Tech; McCane, Tulane; Clements, Alabama; Cobb, North Carolina State; Wright, Kentucky; Shands, South Carolina; and Davis, Clemson.

Georgia has two powerful guards in Leathers and Maddox, while Steele, Florida; Bodener, Tulane; Forquer, Kentucky; Davis, Duke; Thayer, Tennessee; Howard and Miller, Alabama, are all outstanding performers.

Lloyd Roberts, center, has been a bulwark of strength in all Tulane's games. Other good centers include Lipscomb, of North Carolina; Williams, Kentucky; Boutwell, Louisiana State; Gracy, Vanderbilt; Mumsen, Sewanee, and Clemmons, Florida.

Of these linemen, three were named on the all-Southern last year. They are Smith, Georgia, end; Sington, Alabama, tackle; and Roberts, Tulane, center.

Georgia Alumni To Meet Today

In view of the importance of the meeting, a full turnout is anticipated.

TWO ATHLETIC BODIES END WAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—On the scene of the "Battle of Washington" of four years ago between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the two organizations buried their differences today and unanimously elected Avery Brundage, head of the A. A. U., to the presidency of the American Olympic Association.

In an atmosphere of harmony and concerted effort that augured well for the success of the United States in the 1932 Olympic games, the A. O. A. in quadrennial session, laid all the groundwork for American participation at Los Angeles and Lake Placid.

A new constitution framed with the cooperation of the presidents of the A. A. U. and the N. C. A. A. was adopted without a dissenting voice.

Unity was the keynote of the session, in striking contrast to the last meeting of the association here in 1926 when the leaders of the N. C. A. A. resigned and walked out of the meeting after a losing battle with the A. A. U.

Among the developments of the one-day session were: The rejection of an application for membership from the Rocky Mountain conference on the ground that its colleges permit their athletes to play semi-professional basketball; the admission of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association, called the "Big Six," and the rejection of an application from the Ohio High School Athletic Association because it was felt there is no place in the A. O. A. for a scholastic organization.

SMITH, LACKNER STAR AS CADETS DEFEAT FULTON

Marist Outplays Foes To Win, 12-0—Drives Stopped.

By Roy White.

Marist College assured itself of third place in the class "B" division of the city prep football loop with a 12 to 0 victory over Fulton High Wednesday afternoon at Spiller field. It was the second game in a busy week of four contests. The third will be played at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon when Tech High meets Alabama Military Institute.

Except for a drive late in the third quarter and early in the fourth which carried the ball to Marist's 1-yard line, the Fulton team was completely outplayed. The county boys fought with every ounce of energy but were handicapped by the absence of three regulars, suspended by faculty ruling.

BACKS STAR.

Earl Smith and Lackner, midge Marist backs, were the shining lights in the victory. They sprinted around the Fulton line, opened holes for each other, and dashed off tackle for consistent gains throughout the game.

After being held on practically even terms during the first period, the Cadets broke loose in the second quarter with some well executed off-tackle plunges and carried the ball within scoring distance. E. Smith and Lackner, a substitute for May, made the first down in quick succession and Smith bucked through the line for the six points.

A short time later, Marist received the ball on its own 37-yard line and another touchdown march was immediately started. Smith, Hancock and Lackner made 10 yards, and a sweeping end run, added 15 more. A short pass over the line was good for 10 yards and another first down.

Smith and Lackner added 11 more, and a pass, Lackner to Edwards, wrought the touchdown. The kick was low.

LINE TIGHTENS.

Fulton's line tightened in the third quarter and played Marist on even terms. Near the close of the period, Fulton made three first downs, but lost the ball on an intercepted pass.

Early in the fourth quarter the county boys staged a drive that netted three first downs and placed the ball well in Marist territory. The Cadets punted back short and Fulton advanced to the 14-yard line only to lose the ball on downs, a few plays before the game ended.

Captain Shorty Roberts, Hodges and Giles played brilliantly. And Fulton's defense was excellent. Smith and Lackner, the work of Roberts being particularly fine. He directed the play, returned punts and gained considerable ground by short passes and line bucks.

In addition to Smith and Lackner, Edwards, Ryckley and Harrison played well for Marist.

slow shift had hurt the effectiveness of the team Rock said:

"At first I felt hard toward the coaches who insisted on slowing down the shift. Now I feel indebted to them because the slower shift is more effective than the old fast shift was. If the rules were to be changed again to permit a faster shift, I would stick to the present timing."

Rock explained the success of Notre Dame teams by their traditional effectiveness in blocking and tackling.

A TRADITION.

"We have a tradition at our school that the men who make interesting for the ball carrier deserve more praise than the man with the ball. They take out tacklers and make his way easy. I remember one time I had a third-string halfback in whom I had little confidence, but who was popular with the students and fans. They kept after me to put him in but I could not see him. Finally injuries in a game forced me to use him.

"Immediately he got away for long gains. The crowd yelled 'Now who do you think of him, Rock?' and other more complimentary epithets. After the game I went to the dressing room and found the boys congratulating the men who had taken out opposing players and made his run possible. He was sitting dejected in a corner with none to say a kind word to him. I decided then that if the boys had that sort of spirit I would pay no attention to what the fans said."

The score at the half was tied up, 11 and 11.

HARVARD AND YALE.

THE value of a traditional rival in sport can hardly be better shown or proved than in the coming meeting of Yale and Harvard.

Yale has lost only one game this season after a hard schedule and that was an early game to Georgia. Harvard hasn't won a game since mid-October. In its last five starts the Crimson has lost four and tied one. Yet by beating Yale, Harvard can round out a pretty fair season after all and by losing to Harvard, Yale will consider her season something of a flop.

Princeton came near giving Bill Roper a big season last week when it almost beat Yale, after a record even rougher than the Crimson order.

There are those who will rise up to remark that this is largely bunk—but it isn't. Any golfer will tell you there are certain old rivals he would rather beat than all the strangers and more acquaintances in the world. Jim would rather trim Bill than beat Bobby Jones. Yale can finish a fine season by stopping Harvard abruptly and Harvard can take practically all the poison from the various stings of the season by hanging a wreath of thorns around Eli's neck.

In addition to this both Yale and Harvard have two strong football teams. Harvard's main trouble having come from a serious attack of ineffectiveness in the Mays-Devens combination was broken up it was too late to build another, which can't be done in one season along any effective lines. But there are any number of high-class football players on both teams and there is sure to be a swirl of action and interest from start to finish.

DOPE AND DESIRE.

IT IS all very well in one of these old-time traditional games to say one team is the stronger. That may mean nothing. It was simple enough last week to show on the season's record that Yale was three or four touchdowns better than Princeton. But in this particular game that did not prevent Princeton from outplaying Yale two-thirds of the game.

In the same way Yale has played better football than Harvard has shown most of the year. But the gap has not been wide. Army beat Harvard, 7 to 0, and Yale and the Army tied at 7-7. Dartmouth beat Harvard, 7-2, and Yale and Dartmouth tied at 0-0. This doesn't show any vast difference in the two main rivals faced by the Blue and Crimson teams.

Having lost the last two Harvard games, Yale is out for this one with all the drive and chance Eli has. Having known one of her worst seasons Harvard is keener than ever to make up for much of the deficit by beating Yale. But they need no such incentives. It is quite enough to know that Yale and Harvard are meeting to understand the situation.

Yale has better reserves and a sounder all-around attack. Last Saturday, at Princeton, Yale's second team outplayed the first, which is something of a tribute to the coaching of Mal Stevens and his staff.

So far as football form up to date goes, Yale has the edge, but this game, like that of last year, may be decided largely on one play. Yale has had trouble breaking up the lateral pass for the last two years, and if the same trouble exists on Saturday Yale will probably be beaten. But the Blue defense should have the answer by now.

THE BEST FIGHTER.

WHEN Jimmy McLarnin steps into the ring against Billy Petrolle on Friday night there is a large chance that the Fargo Express will be facing the best fighter now in the game, pound for pound.

The only one who might give McLarnin an argument on this point is Mickey Walker, still one of the wonders of his game. McLarnin and Walker come closer to expressing in action just what the fight game should mean than any other two men. And this is largely because they work along the lines of attack and defense. The mental attitudes of both are all on offensive lines. This is the factor that made Jack Dempsey the most popular of the fighting machines.

It is doubtful if Dempsey ever thought in terms of self-protection or defense. It has been the main art of attack rather than the main art of self-defense with Dempsey, McLarnin and Walker. And there are not many who walk along this same road.

LULL IN GRID SEASON COMES THIS SATURDAY

Notre Dame and Northwestern Offer Only Outstanding Game.

By Henry McEmore.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(UP)—If you are one of those cynical souls to whom tradition is just another nine-letter word meaning custom, then Saturday's football program calls for but one really big game—the Notre Dame-Northwestern—francs out in Evanston.

If, on the other hand, you prefer your football scented by memories and reminiscences of the time you sneaked over to the Dalmonte campus in the dead of night and painted a scarlet "S" (for Siwash) on the enemy's law school, then you will be interested in the Harvard-Yale contest, or Kansas-Missouri, Lafayette-Lehigh, Michigan-Chicago, and Stanford-California.

ANCIENT FEUDS.

These games involve teams which have been playing one another since Bull Run. Their past records don't mean a thing. The boys get to reading faded and yellow clippings from scrapbooks before game time, and go out there on the grass all hopped up with tradition and ready to play miles above their heads.

Princeton showed what spirit will do by holding Yale to a 10-7 win. Harvard is likely to show the same thing against a powerful Yale club. And so on down the line.

The Notre Dame-Northwestern affair holds the center of the stage Saturday simply because a national championship will be hanging in the balance. Both teams are undefeated and untied, and both teams will be ready to shoot the works. You can take your choice. If in doubt, name Notre Dame.

The remainder of the schedule is nothing to call up mother about. The first time this season, fails to offer a single noteworthy attraction. Of course, if you are interested in Auburn's attempt to come back, you might properly call the Auburn-Vanderbilt tiff a highlight, but we doubt it. The south will blossom again in the midwest, however, when all the leaders get into action.

Outside the California-Stanford game, the far west offers nothing more enticing than Montana vs. Idaho and Oregon State vs. California (Los Angeles).

For the rest, in addition to the traditional games mentioned, has Fordham vs. Bucknell, N. Y. U. vs. Rutgers, and Navy vs. Maryland. If any of this group excites your pulse, a chess game would kill you.

Purdue meets Indiana, Detroit faces Michigan State, and Nebraska takes on Iowa in the midwest. Way down in Texas, Rice and S. M. U. clash in that section's headline act.

Star Army Back Is Ruled Ineligible

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Army's football squad has lost one of its best halfbacks, Cyril Letzelter, of Pittsburgh, former star at Carnegie Tech.

Letzelter was dropped from the Army squad yesterday when military academy officials discovered he was over the age limit of 22 years when he entered the academy in July, 1929.

TALLADEGA CLUB TO MEET TIGERS

Alabama's second invasion of Atlanta will be staged at Morehouse Saturday afternoon, when the Talladeega eleven comes here for its annual game with the Maroon Tigers.

Their maneuvers screened by locked doors, the Morehouse Tigers Wednesday afternoon through a series of new formations and plays, which Coach Vaughn hopes will befuddle the Talladeega aggregation.

The Atlantans busied themselves in perfecting the attack on which they will depend for what hope will be their sixth straight victory of the season.

The first team ran signals under the tutelage of Assistant Coach Forbes for two hours Wednesday, while the second and third teams were laboring on the Talladeega formations that will be used against the varsity in today's workout.
